Western GOP Governors Are Cautious

Don't Want To Back Loser In '68 Campaign

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. (AP) — Western Republican governors are looking over the field before signing on any political dotted lines that might tie them to a losing candidate for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.

Just as they want a winner against President Johnson, the 10 Republican state executives attending the Western Governors' Conference want to be on the right candidate at next year's nominating convention.

This obviously will make it difficult when most of the 25 GOP governors meet later in the week at Jackson, Wyo., for the 18 moderates among them to agree early to back Gov. George Romney of Michigan or any other potential nominee.

What the moderates are hearing in comparing notes on the kind of Republican they think should be nominated is that Gov. Ronald Reagan of California is—as Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon put it bluntly—the “hottest piece of political property” around the Republican circuit at the moment.

The moderates regard Reagan as too conservative. But if he should develop into a serious challenger who looks able to capture the voters' fancy in a contest with Johnson, some concede privately they could amend their views to support him as the nominee.

Barry Goldwater, the 1964 GOP nominee, already has said he could vigorously support Reagan if anything happens to block out former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The California governor, who left the conference Monday, said he isn't a candidate and is not committed to anyone. But he declined to close the door when he said in an interview: “If all of the party came knocking at my door, I guess I wouldn't tell them to go away.”

Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington said this is about the situation in which Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York finds himself. Rockefeller has said he never again will bid for the nomination as he did in 1964.

But Evans said: “Both he and Reagan are going to be big factors at the convention, which I think is going to be wide open unless somebody runs away with the primaries and closes the door on the others. For myself, I am going to stay loose for (Continued on Page 2)

Once-Turbulent Berkeley Now Tame and Indifferent

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The young man popped the legs of the bridge table into place, thumb-tacked a sign on the front and placed the table near Ludwig Fountain on the bricked Sproul Hall Plaza at the University of California.

“We won't go. October 16 resistance,” the sign read.

It was, the young man explained, a nationwide rally to resist the military draft. Oct. 16 was the target date.

Students at the summer session, on their way to classes, paid the table scant attention.

The same indifference was manifest for another table of the Young Socialist Alliance, a splinter Trotsky group. Its table tenders have been handing out literature in the same area for years.

This quiet scene offers startling contrast to the turmoil and protest spawned on the same bricked wall between Sproul Hall and the Student Union, from the fall of 1964 until the firing of Clark Kerr as university president last January.

During those more than two years of tumult, a long line of tables offered pleas ranging from legalization of marijuana to sexual freedom. In front of them, especially at the noon hour, there was such a conges-

Yank Executed In VC Reprisal

SAIGON (AP) — A Communist broadcast 12 days ago appeared to announce the execution of a U.S. official taken prisoner by three Viet Cong nearly two and a half years ago, the U.S. mission announced today.

The official is Gustav C. Hertz, 48, chief of the public administration division in Saigon of the U.S. Agency for International Development. His wife and four children live in Leesburg, Va.

A statement from the U.S. mission said the “language of the broadcast is not fully clear, but it implies that Gustav Hertz suffered the same fate as Sgt. Kenneth Rorback, who was executed on Sept. 26, 1965, as an announced act of reprisal.”

The name came through in the broadcast not as Gustav Hertz but as “Gustav Head.” However, no American named

Anti-Riot Bill Is Approved By Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee voted today to make it a federal crime to cross state lines to incite a riot.

Aimed at professional agitators who stir up racial troubles, the bill would provide penalties up to five years in jail and a $10,000 fine upon conviction.

Under pressure from more than 100 sponsors of the legislation, Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., separated from the bill a civil rights measure he had added to it in subcommittee last week.

That part of the bill would have made it a federal crime to use force or threats to interfere with Negroes exercising their rights to vote, attend public schools or participate in other legally protected activities.

Separation of the two provisions was viewed as a setback by civil rights supporters, but Celler said he had assurances from House leaders that both bills would be taken to the House floor.

The drive to separate the bills was led by Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Mass., chairman of the House Rules Committee.

Colmer had threatened to use special powers of the rules committee to take an anti-riot bill away from Celler's committee. In view of the Judiciary Committee action, Colmer called off the move.

LBJ's Uncle Dies at 83

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Huffman Baines, 83, an uncle of President Johnson, died Monday at a rest home where he had been under treatment since last September. Officials there said he suffered a seizure several days ago and had been receiving oxygen treatment.

Head is known to have been in the hands of the Viet Cong.

Voice experts are studying the tape, which said “The examples of Kenneth Rorback and Gustav Head are still fresh in our memories.”

The implication Hertz had been killed came a second time when the broadcast warned that Douglas K. Ramsey, a U.S. foreign service officer, and other American prisoners would be killed in reprisal if three Viet Cong agents condemned to death in Saigon are executed.

“Ramsey and others will be unable to avoid shameful death as did Rorback and Head to pay the blood debts they incurred with the Vietnamese people,” it said.

A U.S. spokesman said a broadcast June 15 by the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong, “appears to state” that Hertz “has already been put to death as an act of reprisal.”

Hanoi radio on June 16 said the Viet Cong had announced on June 12 that it would execute American prisoners “including a major” if the South Vietnamese government executed three Viet Cong agents the broadcast said had been sentenced to death in Saigon. However, there has been no indication of any recent executions by the Saigon government.

Hertz was captured by the Viet Cong Feb. 2, 1965, after leaving his quarters in Saigon on a motorbike. He had been in Vietnam for several years, advising the South Vietnamese on organization and administration of local government.

Two months after he was captured, the Viet Cong threatened to kill him if a terrorist sentenced to death in Saigon was executed. But instead of Hertz, the Viet Cong executed U.S. Army Sgt. Harold George Bennett, 25, of Perryville, Ark.

Two other American military men, Capt. Humbert Versace, 28, of Baltimore, Md., and S. Sgt. Kenneth M. Rorback, 33, of Fayetteville, N.C., were executed by the Viet Cong Sept. 24, 1965, in reprisal for executions of Viet Cong terrorists by the South Vietnamese government.

John Stuart, the press spokesman for the U.S. mission, said the reported execution of Hertz was “a matter of grave concern” to the U.S. government and a “cynical betrayal” of assurances by the Viet Cong of humane treatment to prisoners. He said any such reprisal execution was an explicit violation of Article 13 of the Geneva Convention on treatment of prisoners of war.

Roman Church Has Revived Diaconate Rank

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI today revived the permanent rank of ordained deacon in the Roman Catholic Church for both married and single men to help meet a shortage of priests.

In a document titled “Sacrum Diaconatus Ordinem” — the Sacred Order of the Diaconate, the pontiff carried out another major recommendation of the 1962-65 Vatican Ecumenical Council. It urged creation of permanent deacons to help in areas where priests are scarce.

The document was issued four days after a papal encyclical reaffirming the requirement that priests be celibate and rejecting demands that they be allowed to marry.

The deacons will be ordained ministers who can preach and confer some sacraments but not say Mass or hear confession, which only priests can do.

Those eligible for the permanent diaconate will be married men at least 35 years old, provided they have the consent of their wives, and single men at least 25 years old who must remain single after becoming deacons.

Establishment of the permanent diaconate in each nation will be left to the discretion of the national bishops' conferences. Latin America, Africa and Asia, where the priest shortage is greatest, are expected to make the widest use of the new diaconate.

In recent centuries seminarians have been made subdeacons and then deacons during the last few months before their ordination to the priesthood. The diaconate rank has been temporary, allowing the advanced seminarian to baptize, preach and give Communion.

Redistricting Bill Allows Further Delay

Edward Kennedy Terms Measure Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees have approved a congressional redistricting compromise measure that would give 33 states the means to avoid for five years compliance with the Supreme Court's one man-one vote edict.

The version of the bill worked out Monday by the conferees was termed unconstitutional by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and “an open and flagrant invitation to gerrymandering” by Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich.

Kennedy and Conyers vowed to continue their fight for prompt implementation of the high court decision.

The compromise bill would permit present congressional districts to remain unchanged until after the 1970 census unless special federal census figures are available—a condition not likely to be met.

Thus wide population variations among a state's districts would remain in effect until after the 1972 elections, when the differences would have to drop to 10 per cent or less.

The House originally adopted a measure that would have permitted a population variation of up to 30 per cent for the 1968 and 1970 elections.

But earlier this month, Kennedy won surprising approval of a Senate amendment to prohibit more than a 10 per cent difference between the largest and smallest districts by the 1968 elections.

The compromise measure would relieve states of redistricting for the 1968 and 1970 elections regardless of how much their congressional districts vary in population, Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said Monday.

Ervin, a spokesman for senate conferees, had said the Kennedy amendment would have forced 33 states to redistrict before next spring's primary elections.

The compromise measure first goes to the House for consideration.

Miami U Prof Opposes New Tax Proposal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Miami University professor said today “the Administration's proposal to levy a gross receipts tax on retail sales is a step backwards instead of forward in improving the equity of the tax system of Ohio.”

Dr. George W. Thatcher, professor of economics at Miami, who issued a statement, was the author of the so-called “Thatcher Report” on tax revision alternatives for the state's tax system, published in 1962. Last summer he was a consultant to the Ohio Tax Study Commission.

His statement said: “To the extent the tax is shifted forward to the consumer by way of higher prices, it will add to the high regressivity of the existing tax system, penalizing particularly those with low incomes, declining or fixed incomes and those with large families.”

“To the extent the tax is borne by the retailer, it will discriminate greatly among merchants, increasing further discrimination against the retailer of goods in relation to the retailer of services and other classes of business. Moreover, gross receipts in no way measure net income or ability-to-pay taxes. As a consequence, the tax will result in an unequal burden among merchants and may force some retailers out of business.”

Electric Workers Reject Contract

CINCINNATI (AP) — Electrical workers who have been on strike against the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. since May 10 have rejected again a proposed new two-year contract.

The vote in balloting Monday was 784 against the contract and 452 in favor.

As a result, the strike and picketing of CG&E plants continued today.

Reserve Head Supports LBJ Tax Increase

Believes Prompt Action Needed To Stop Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A prompt federal tax boost needed to head off another round of inflation, says Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board.

Martin, who supported from the start President Johnson's request last January for a six per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes, suggested Monday an even bigger boost now may be warranted.

Despite his request, Johnson still hasn't sent to Congress legislation asking for increased taxes. But administration sources now expect to present the surtax measure to Congress in early July.

Martin cited the rise in long-term interest rates to last summer's peaks and the possibility of a renewed diversion of money from mortgages—which should seriously hamper the recovery in housing construction—in urging prompt tax action.

His appeal came in a talk to the Rotary Club of Toledo, Ohio, but a summary of his remarks was made public by the board in Washington.

“I am firmly convinced that we must have adequate, effective—and above all—prompt tax action that would whittle down the prospective deficit for the coming fiscal year to one of manageable proportions,” Martin said.

New estimates by the administration now place the expected budget deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1 at $13.6 billion, but some guesses range as high as $29 billion.

Martin said the Federal Reserve's policy of easier money plus higher-than-expected federal spending prevented sluggishness in the economy this year from turning into a recession.

Now, after only a short pause, the economy is beginning to show signs of moving ahead again,” he said.

The administration's request for the surtax is based on an expectation of an economic upturn during the second half of this year.

Martin said that in light of the recovery now under way and the rate of federal spending he would be prepared to support an even higher surcharge if it were warranted by congressional action on spending.

Roundtown

ASA Elsea, chairman of the Jaycee Airport Committee, noted today that pledges now total $12,055, a long way from the $50,000 goal set by the Junior Chamber that would be added to a $100,000 state grant for airport construction here. . . . Elsea said that he and other airport backers are hoping for an extension of the June 30, for state grants.

VACATION time is here for many area families. . . . State departments are still advocating that Ohioans “See Ohio First” and that's just what one local family plans to do. . . . Brian and Mary Gallagher, Chipewa Drive, are spending their vacation by “seeing this part of the country.” The Gallaghers, who moved here from California last fall, are natives of the “Emerald Isle.” Perhaps a little homesick, they noted that the southern Ohio area is a lot like Ireland. . . . Next year, however, a real vacation is in the making. They are planning a trip “home” along with their two sons, Martin and Damian.

KOSYGIN OFF TO CASTRO — With a wave of his hand, Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin ends a 10-day visit to the United States and leaves New York by air for Havana for post-summit talks with Premier Fidel Castro. At right is Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Opposition Grows To Arms Shipment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sentiment to close the spigot of U.S. arms supplies to foreign countries appears to be growing in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Before the administration's $3.1-billion foreign aid bill, including nearly $600 million for military aid, reached the committee today, at least five of the 19 members of the panel voiced concern with the arms program.

There were indications the committee might attempt to usurp authority usually left to the President to set arms policy and insist on cutbacks in the present system on ground it has failed to help preserve peace.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, a committee member, said Monday the clash of Israeli and Arab armies earlier this month illustrated the “folly of the thesis that the United States can defuse arms races by supplying weapons.”

Church told the Senate the Israelis and Jordanians used U.S.-supplied weapons in the battle over Jerusalem.

Sens. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa.; Albert Gore, D-Tenn.; Claiborne Pell, D-R.I.; and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., all committee members, and Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio; Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., expressed support for Church's views.

In addition, Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., another panel member, have criticized the military aid program.

The growing opposition indicates rough going in the committee for administration plans to continue arms aid on its own terms.

While the administration looks to the United Nations or other diplomatic avenues for reducing the arms flow into actual or potential trouble spots, sentiment has grown in the committee for unilateral U. S. action.

President Johnson has noted that the arms money request is the smallest since 1950. But Church argued Monday the over-all amount sought for military aid was larger than the current appropriation.

That Was Really A Lot of Bull

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus insurance man Anson B. Smith knew he had a lot of bull but he didn't know until Monday just how much. His 7-year-old Guernsey bull sold for $113,000 at an auction in nearby Hilliard. Informed cattlemen called it the highest price ever paid for a dairy bull sold at auction.

Summit Meet Issues Likely On Agenda

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko plan a followup talk tonight on the major international issues passed down to them from the Glassboro summit sessions.

Since Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Johnson wound up their weekend conferences still far apart on big issues, their aides were unlikely to come up with any quick agreements.

Rusk and Gromyko were to dine at the Soviet U.N. mission and discuss such items as Vietnam, the Middle East crisis and ways to hold down the arms race. The proposed draft of a treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons appeared to offer the best prospects for progress.

Johnson and Kosygin agreed to high priority for this treaty, which the two atomic superpowers propose to present at the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference. U.S. sources said an agreed U.S.-Soviet text has been virtually completed.

On the Middle East issue the United States and the Soviet Union are still at loggerheads, with Kosygin demanding an immediate pullback of Israeli troops as a precondition for a peace settlement and Johnson saying a troop withdrawal should be tied in with a settlement.

Diplomats at the United Nations are seeking a compromise, and some predicted the General Assembly would recess its emergency session for two or three days next week to allow time for more negotiations.

The assembly ends its general debate on the Arab-Israeli war Friday, and no resolution that could get the two-thirds necessary for adoption is in sight. As the debate drew to a close, Kosygin ended his visit to the United States and flew to Havana Monday to confer with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Her Accomplishments Are Enough for Anyone

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Broad-jumping 20 feet, 5 inches, teaching herself to play the guitar, giving solo piano and organ recitals and singing in a glee club make a long list of accomplishments for any girl.

Joy A. Taranto, 19, does them all and cooks, too. And she is blind.

“I accept my blindness and live with it,” says Joy. “It doesn't faze me in the least.”

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taranto of Waltham recently was graduated from Perkins School for the Blind in Watertown, where she has studied since first grade. She won graduation awards in girls' athletics, music and scholarship.

“I immediately had a love for the piano,” said Joy—who must learn the music by Braille, a slow, painstaking process.

“You learn a method of Braille so that you learn what each note looks like,” explained Joy. “You read the music with your fingers, memorize one hand, adapt it to the keyboard, memorize the other hand and adapt that to the keyboard, then put the two hands together.” Joy also plays the organ and has taught herself the guitar. Last year she gave a solo piano recital at school, and she has performed in music festivals in New York, Connecticut and Maryland.

Joy was a member of the baseball and track teams, and president of the Girls' Athletic Association.

In a typical game of baseball, Joy explained, “we have a pitcher, who throws the ball at us, and we swing.”

How do you tell when to hit the ball? “You don't. It's hit or miss, but after a couple of times you get used to it.”

In track, Joy has recorded 18 feet, 4 inches in the standing triple jump, 7 feet, 1 inch in the standing broad jump and 20 feet, 5 inches in the running broad jump—the latter less than two feet short of the listed world record for women.

Joy ultimately hopes to teach organ and piano, and play in recitals.

Joy plays the piano every Sunday at a Cambridge restaurant and will be music counselor at a day camp this summer.

Said Joy: “I'm not one of those kids who just sits at home and does nothing.”

The compromise measure first goes to the House for consideration.

Miami U Prof Opposes New Tax Proposal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Miami University professor said today “the Administration's proposal to levy a gross receipts tax on retail sales is a step backwards instead of forward in improving the equity of the tax system of Ohio.”

Dr. George W. Thatcher, professor of economics at Miami, who issued a statement, was the author of the so-called “Thatcher Report” on tax revision alternatives for the state's tax system, published in 1962. Last summer he was a consultant to the Ohio Tax Study Commission.

His statement said: “To the extent the tax is shifted forward to the consumer by way of higher prices, it will add to the high regressivity of the existing tax system, penalizing particularly those with low incomes, declining or fixed incomes and those with large families.”

“To the extent the tax is borne by the retailer, it will discriminate greatly among merchants, increasing further discrimination against the retailer of goods in relation to the retailer of services and other classes of business. Moreover, gross receipts in no way measure net income or ability-to-pay taxes. As a consequence, the tax will result in an unequal burden among merchants and may force some retailers out of business.”

VACATION time is here for many area families. . . State departments are still advocating that Ohioans “See Ohio First” and that's just what one local family plans to do . . . Brian and Mary Gallagher, Chipewake Drive, are spending their vacation by “seeing this part of the country.” The Gallaghers, who moved here from California last fall, are natives of the “Emerald Isle.” Perhaps a little homesick, they noted that the southern Ohio area is a lot like Ireland . . . Next year, however, a real vacation is in the making. They are planning a trip “home” along with their two sons, Martin and Damian.

Electric Workers Reject Contract

CINCINNATI (AP) — Electrical workers who have been on strike against the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. since May 10 have rejected again a proposed new two-year contract. The vote in balloting Monday was 784 against the contract and 452 in favor. As a result, the strike and picketing of CG&E plants continued today.

Rusk, Gromyko Plan Meeting for Tonight

Reserve Head Supports LBJ Tax Increase

Believes Prompt Action Needed To Stop Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A prompt federal tax boost needed to head off another round of inflation, says Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board.

Martin, who supported from the start President Johnson's request last January for a six per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes, suggested Monday an even bigger boost now may be warranted.

Despite his request, Johnson still hasn't sent to Congress legislation asking for increased taxes. But administration sources now expect to present the surtax measure to Congress in early July.

Martin cited the rise in long-term interest rates to last summer's peaks and the possibility of a renewed diversion of money from mortgages—which should seriously hamper the recovery in housing construction—in urging prompt tax action.

His appeal came in a talk to the Rotary Club of Toledo, Ohio, but a summary of his remarks was made public by the board in Washington.

“I am firmly convinced that we must have adequate, effective—and above all—prompt tax action that would whittle down the prospective deficit for the coming fiscal year to one of manageable proportions,” Martin said.

New estimates by the administration now place the expected budget deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1 at $13.6 billion, but some guesses range as high as $29 billion.

Martin said the Federal Reserve's policy of easier money plus higher-than-expected federal spending prevented sluggishness in the economy this year from turning into a recession.

Now, after only a short pause, the economy is beginning to show signs of moving ahead again,” he said.

The administration's request for the surtax is based on an expectation of an economic upturn during the second half of this year.

Martin said that in light of the recovery now under way and the rate of federal spending he would be prepared to support an even higher surcharge if it were warranted by congressional action on spending.

Roundtown

ASA Elsea, chairman of the Jaycee Airport Committee, noted today that pledges now total $12,055, a long way from the $50,000 goal set by the Junior Chamber that would be added to a $100,000 state grant for airport construction here . . . Elsea said that he and other airport backers are hoping for an extension of the June 30, for state grants.

That Was Really A Lot of Bull

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus insurance man Anson B. Smith knew he had a lot of bull but he didn't know until Monday just how much.

His 7-year-old Guernsey bull sold for $113,000 at an auction in nearby Hilliard. Informed cattlemen called it the highest price ever paid for a dairy bull sold at auction.

Pickets Arrested

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — More than 50 pickets were arrested today for violating a court order against mass picketing outside the strikebound Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. plant.

KOSYGIN OFF TO CASTRO — With a wave of his hand, Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin ends a 10-day visit to the United States and leaves New York by air for Havana for post-summit talks with Premier Fidel Castro. At right is Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Opposition Grows To Arms Shipment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sentiment to close the spigot of U.S. arms supplies to foreign countries appears to be growing in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Before the administration's $3.1-billion foreign aid bill, including nearly $600 million for military aid, reached the committee today, at least five of the 19 members of the panel voiced concern with the arms program.

There were indications the committee might attempt to usurp authority usually left to the President to set arms policy and insist on cutbacks in the present system on ground it has failed to help preserve peace.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, a committee member, said Monday the clash of Israeli and Arab armies earlier this month illustrated the “folly of the thesis that the United States can defuse arms races by supplying weapons.”

Church told the Senate the Israelis and Jordanians used U.S.-supplied weapons in the battle over Jerusalem.

Sens. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa.; Albert Gore, D-Tenn.; Claiborne Pell, D-R.I.; and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., all committee members, and Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio; Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., expressed support for Church's views.

In addition, Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., another panel member, have criticized the military aid program.

The growing opposition indicates rough going in the committee for administration plans to continue arms aid on its own terms.

While the administration looks to the United Nations or other diplomatic avenues for reducing the arms flow into actual or potential trouble spots, sentiment has grown in the committee for unilateral U.S. action.

President Johnson has noted that the arms money request is the smallest since 1950. But Church argued Monday the over-all amount sought for military aid was larger than the current appropriation.

Johnson used “some budgetary sleight of hand” to show a decrease, Church said. “The executive branch has shown no real indication that it is prepared to start turning off the weapons spigots,” Church commented. “Sales continue unchecked.”

The State and Defense Departments support the program on the theory that measured quantities of arms help preserve a military balance of power in trouble areas, deterring both sides from gaining an advantage, or help governments put down Communist-led attacks and revolutions.

Johnson and Kosygin agreed to high priority for this treaty, which the two atomic superpowers propose to present at the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference. U.S. sources said an agreed U.S.-Soviet text has been virtually completed.

Summit Meet Issues Likely On Agenda

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko plan a followup talk tonight on the major international issues passed down to them from the Glassboro summit sessions.

Since Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Johnson wound up their weekend conferences still far apart on big issues, their aides were unlikely to come up with any quick agreements.

Rusk and Gromyko were to dine at the Soviet U.N. mission and discuss such items as Vietnam, the Middle East crisis and ways to hold down the arms race. The proposed draft of a treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons appeared to offer the best prospects for progress.

Johnson and Kosygin agreed to high priority for this treaty, which the two atomic superpowers propose to present at the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference. U.S. sources said an agreed U.S.-Soviet text has been virtually completed.

On the Middle East issue the United States and the Soviet Union are still at loggerheads, with Kosygin demanding an immediate pullback of Israeli troops as a precondition for a peace settlement and Johnson saying a troop withdrawal should be tied in with a settlement.

Diplomats at the United Nations are seeking a compromise, and some predicted the General Assembly would recess its emergency session for two or three days next week to allow time for more negotiations.

The assembly ends its general debate on the Arab-Israeli war Friday, and no resolution that could get the two-thirds necessary for adoption is in sight. As the debate drew to a close, Kosygin ended his visit to the United States and flew to Havana Monday to confer with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Panama Treaty Revision Ready

WASHINGTON (AP) — Panama is reported to get complete sovereignty over the Canal Zone and the route of a possible new sea level waterway across that country under an agreement announced Monday night between the United States and Panama.

In addition, Panama is expected to obtain a voice in administration of any U.S. canal operated in that country, an increase in the annuity of $1.93 million now paid Panama by Washington, and legal control of the canal area.

Altogether there are three proposed facts on as many aspects of U.S.-Panama relations, all subject to ratification by the Senate and by Panama as well.

Her Accomplishments Are Enough for Anyone

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Broad-jumping 20 feet, 5 inches, teaching herself to play the guitar, giving solo piano and organ recitals and singing in a glee club make a long list of accomplishments for any girl.

Joy A. Taranto, 19, does them all and cooks, too. And she is blind.

“I accept my blindness and live with it,” says Joy. “It doesn't faze me in the least.”

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taranto of Waltham recently was graduated from Perkins School for the Blind in Watertown, where she has studied since first grade. She won graduation awards in girls' athletics, music and scholarship.

“I immediately had a love for the piano,” said Joy—who must learn the music by Braille, a slow, painstaking process. “You learn a method of Braille so that you learn what each note looks like,” explained Joy. “You read the music with your fingers, memorize one hand, adapt it to the keyboard, memorize the other hand and adapt that to the keyboard, then put the two hands together.”

Joy also plays the organ and has taught herself the guitar. Last year she gave a solo piano recital at school, and she has performed in music festivals in New York, Connecticut and Maryland.

Joy was a member of the baseball and track teams, and president of the Girls' Athletic Association.

In a typical game of baseball, Joy explained, “we have a pitcher, who throws the ball at us, and we swing.”

How do you tell when to hit the ball? “You don't. It's hit or miss, but after a couple of times you get used to it.”

In track, Joy has recorded 18 feet, 4 inches in the standing triple jump, 7 feet, 1 inch in the standing broad jump and 20 feet, 5 inches in the running broad jump—the latter less than two feet short of the listed world record for women.

Joy ultimately hopes to teach organ and piano, and play in recitals.

Joy plays the piano every Sunday at a Cambridge restaurant and will be music counselor at a day camp this summer.

Said Joy: “I'm not one of those kids who just sits at home and does nothing.”

China Embassy In Rangoon Is Assaulted

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Angered by demonstrations in support of Mao Tse-tung and attacks on Burmese newsmen, thousands of Burmese kicked, punched and stoned Chinese in Peking's embassy and smashed Chinese shops.

Ambulances and police cars took a number of injured Chinese to hospitals.

Violence broke out after Chinese students demonstrated against a government ban on the wearing of Mao Tse-tung badges and beat up local newsmen covering their protest rally.

A mob of Burmese that increased from 5,000 to 10,000 broke through a cordon of troops and police to sack a Chinese school in which Maoist students were demonstrating. The mob tore down the Chinese government seal from the main gate of the Chinese Embassy, beat up Chinese on the streets, burned and smashed 39 cars belonging to Chinese, and wrecked residences, tearshops, bars, tailoring shops and homes in Rangoon's Chinatown.

The violence was expected to bring an angry protest from Peking. Because it shares a largely unprotected, 1,200-mile frontier with China, the Burmese government has tried to maintain carefully correct relations with its big Communist neighbor.

Government cars with loudspeakers rolled through the city calling for tolerance and appealing to the crowds to go home in the interest of preserving Chinese-Burmese relations.

By midnight the crowds began to disperse. Early today, 200 defiant Chinese students who had been trapped in one school by the mob were escorted back to their homes. They were still wearing Mao badges.

In one demonstration Monday Chinese students made a school principal their prisoner because he would not allow them to wear the badges. The principal was rescued when police broke into the school with the help of a fire brigade. Thirty Burmese school teachers held hostage with the principal were also freed.

The government announced it was closing all 10 state schools in Rangoon in which Chinese students predominate. A cordon of troops was thrown around the Chinese residential and business sector from midnight to dawn.

Burma's Chinese population is estimated at more than a million. The majority lives in Rangoon.

Market Beats Slow Retreat

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market beat another slow retreat this afternoon amid further emphasis on the need for a tax boost. Trading was active.

Gardner Ackley, residential economic adviser, told Congress a tax increase is needed to "safeguard healthy prosperity." Ackley's voice was added to that of Chairman William McCleskey Martin of the Federal Reserve Board whose statement in favor of a tax increase was blamed by Wall Streeters for tilting an uncertain market to the downside Monday.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.50 to 870.61—putting it once more to level which has been regarded as a minor support.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .4 to 324.0—a minor loss—with industrials down 1.0, rails off .2 and utilities up .3.

These Will Be Trees of Learning

FLEMINGSBURG, Ky. (AP)—A group of 472 schoolchildren in Fleming County have planted several thousand walnut seedlings and plan to plant 7,500 by the end of the year, in hopes of selling the trees to pay their college costs.

Ken Rase, an agriculture expert, says it takes 25 to 35 years for a walnut tree to become marketable and such trees now sell for $100 to $2,000.

The planting program is sponsored by the Fleming 4-H Council, local Chamber of Commerce, Kentucky Utilities Co., and a Winchester, Ky., lumber company.

Automobile Dealer Requests Injunction

CLEVELAND (AP)—An automobile dealer has asked Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court for an injunction against a neighboring industry alleging that corrosive wastes it discharges into the air damages the dealer's automobiles.

Sol M. Milstein, owner of Reliable Oldsmobile, Inc., asked temporary and permanent restraining orders on Grabler Manufacturing Co. to prevent the company from discharging the allegedly damaging wastes from its foundry stacks.

Summit Meet

King Hussein of Jordan, who addressed the assembly Monday, planned to visit President Johnson in Washington Wednesday. Jordan has received much U.S. economic and military aid and needs more to ease the effects of her losses in the war and the influx of Arab refugees from Jordanian lands occupied by the Israelis.

Hussein warned the assembly that there would be more fighting unless the United Nations condemned Israel as the aggressor in the war and forced Israeli troops back to the lines they held before fighting began June 5.

"Today's war is not a new war but part of the old war, which will go on for scores of years if the moral and physical wrong done to the Arabs is not righted," the 32-year-old monarch said.

Hussein said the Israelis perpetrated "an act of war as vicious as the blitzkrieg on Poland or as stunning as the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor."

"To permit Israel to retain its gains as a bargaining weapon is immoral," he declared. "It will not be borne."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban replied that Jordan had a "heavy and unique responsibility" for the war. He said fighting would never have spread to Israel's eastern borders "if Jordan had not joined in the war after Egypt started it."

Eban argued that "an unnegotiated withdrawal without a prior mutual and effective commitment to peace" would "merely reconstruct the conditions of the recent outbreak of war—and therefore set the state for the war to come."

Juveniles Apprehended

Circleville Police Dept. today reported that two juvenile escapees from the Fairfield School for Boys who stole a car here early Monday morning have been apprehended in Province Town, Mass.

Police officers in Province Town arrested the youths driving a car belonging to Mrs. A. D. Finley, 1012 N. Court St. according to the report received.

The youths, who were seen in the Cambridge-Zanesville area Monday, were also accused of breaking into two places of business on Route 21 near Cambridge.

Articles taken, police officers said, were cigars, cigarettes and a large amount of coins. When arrested, the youths had in their possession the articles taken from the stores in Cambridge.

Officials in Province Town said the youths were due to appear in District Court Tuesday morning.

No Fanfare For Kosygin In Havana

HAVANA (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Prime Minister Fidel Castro were expected to continue private talks today but the subjects being discussed were kept secret.

Western observers believed the two Communist leaders would range over Vietnam, the Soviet position on the Middle East and Castro's opposition to the Soviet doctrine of peaceful coexistence with non-Communist nations.

Informal sources said there was no official word on how long Kosygin would remain in Havana, but indications pointed to at least another day.

Kosygin was greeted with little fanfare when he arrived Monday after his nine-day visit to the United States, which included two meetings with President Johnson. No crowds were waiting at the airport to greet the first Soviet premier to visit Cuba. There were no bands and no flags.

Commission Approves Subdivision

15-Lot Development Will Cover a Near 9-Acre Tract

Plans for developing a new housing subdivision just north of Circleville were approved by the Pickaway County Commissioners at their regular weekly meeting Monday.

The subdivision, to be known as Walnut Creek Estates, will be located at the junction of Circleville-Groveport Road and Dunkle Road, about 1 1/2 miles north of the city.

Bowers-Goodrich Inc., of Circleville, will develop the plat. Dr. John N. Bowers, 815 Arbor Road is president of the corporation and Donald E. Goodchild, of 833 Pershing Drive, is secretary and treasurer.

The 15-lot plat, covering 8.949 acres, extends about a quarter-mile on the east side of Circleville-Groveport Road and about a quarter-mile on the south side of Dunkle Road.

THE lots, averaging 145 feet wide and 140 feet deep, are located in Circleville Twp. and in the Circleville City School District.

Seven of the lots front on Circleville-Groveport Road and seven are on Dunkle Road. One lot is located at the intersection of the two roads.

In other business, Commissioners Lloyd L. Melvin, Wayne Hines and Charles Morris Jr. approved purchase of two two filing cabinets and a desk for the office of the clerk of courts at a cost of $351. They were purchased from the Paul A. Johnson office firm.

Acknowledged receipt of $20 from the owner of four lots in the Clarks' Lake Sewer District No. 2 for tie-ins to the existing sewer line.

Adopted resolutions congratulating Miss Christine Zehner, who won the Miss South Central Ohio pageant, and Miss Marsha Gunder, who was first runner-up. Both girls are from the Circleville area.

Approved routine expenditures for operation of the county.

Youths Hurt Playing Ball

Two youngsters sustaining minor injuries while playing baseball topped the list of persons receiving emergency aid at Berger Hospital Monday. All were treated and released.

Mark McMunkin, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McMunkin, Route 2, Amanda, received contusions of his elbow when hit with a baseball while playing baseball.

David Mehalick, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mehalick, 140 Reber Ave., was hit in the right side by a batted ball during a baseball game at Ted Lewis Park.

Danny Casto, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Casto, Route 3, fell on a corn planter and lacerated his forehead.

James Davis, 17, of 1110 S. Washington St., fell from his bicycle and was treated for abrasions to his right knee.

Robert Hettinger, 57, of 547 E. Main St., had a bug removed from his left ear.

Debra Iles, 14, daughter of Mrs. Peggy Iles, 421 N. Scioto St., fell from a motorcycle and lacerated her right knee.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has approved 73 new drugs in the past 12 months, including a fertility-enhancing agent.

Other newly approved drugs include pain relievers, two drugs to lower serum cholesterol and one for the treatment of gout.

Dr. James Goddard, who heads the FDA, reported this to President Johnson Monday. He said the agency has turned back 130 drugs to the manufacturers because of incomplete information.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's campaign against deceptive packaging has turned its attention to the toy industry.

The Federal Trade Commission banned 10 toy manufacturers Monday from using allegedly deceptive, oversized containers for packing toys.

In announcing this, the FTC urged the industry to guard against the use of deceptive packages. The agency said many toy containers don't fairly inform the buyer of the contents.

The FTC noted that its authority regarding deceptive packaging will increase Saturday when the Fair Packaging and Labeling Act goes into effect.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has widened its campaign against price-fixing.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark has authorized his nationwide staff of U. S. attorneys to launch their own investigations and prosecutions of businesses which illegally fix prices. Up to now, the Justice Department's antitrust division had sole responsibility for enforcing the federal antitrust law against price-fixing.

Clark said the change will increase the federal government's ability to prevent price-fixing.

Dear Abby:

Marriage Is Very Serious Business

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which I am sure I am not alone in. I have the sweetest, most wonderful girl in the world, and we're thinking of marriage, but when we're together, I'm the one who has to start everything. Like taking her hand to hold it, or putting my arm around her to draw her closer so I can kiss her.

She's not cold or uncooperative, once I make the first move, but I sure wish she would make the first move once in a while. How can a guy get this across to his girl without turning her off? Some guys like a little encouragement.

DEAR DONNIE: — And some guys feel that for a girl to take the initiative in such matters is unfeminine, and it turns THEM off. (Maybe she thinks you are one of those guys.)

If you are thinking of marriage, it's high time you started being perfectly frank with each other with regard to what you like and what you don't like about the romantic part of your relationship. When a marriage goes on the rocks, the rocks can usually be found in the mattress.

DEAR ABBY: A girl I'll call Grace is being married soon. Grace's mother and future mother-in-law are both expert cake bakers. The future mother-in-law has already been telling people about the kind of cake she plans to bake for the wedding!

I happen to know that Grace's mother would very much like to bake the wedding cake, but she's the kind who prefers to sit back and let the other woman do it rather than make an issue of it, even though she's been told that the bride's mother is supposed to provide the cake.

There is no chance of having the two women do it together because the groom's mother is much too bossy.

How can this be handled?

INNOCENT BYSTANDER
DEAR BYSTANDER: Since

Grace's mother is "the kind who prefers to sit back and let the other woman do it rather than make an issue of it," knowing that traditionally the bride's mother provides the cake, I say, let her sit back.

I wouldn't presume to "handle" anything which is so obviously none of my business. And if you do, prepare to end up with egg (or cake) on your face.

DEAR ABBY: As a ecumenical brother to the Ohio minister, I too, have swallowed my pride after officiating at a wedding or funeral, when someone asks me, "How much do I owe you?"

Rather than set an hourly rate for services rendered, in the case of a boor who would ask such a question, I put a return question, "How much was it worth to you?"

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, June 27, the 178th day of 1967. There are 187 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1950, President Truman ordered the U.S. Air Force and Navy to help repel a North Korean invasion of the Republic of Korea.

On this date: In 1844, Mormon leaders Joseph and Hyrum Smith were killed by a mob in Carthage, Ill. Brigham Young became head of the church.

In 1847, a telegraph wire connecting New York and Boston was completed.

In 1936, President Roosevelt was renominated for a second term by a Democratic convention in Philadelphia.

In 1938, President Roosevelt signed the wage and hour bill. In 1942, the FBI disclosed the capture of eight Nazi saboteurs York's Long Island by submarine.

In 1963, President Kennedy was a guest of Ireland's President De Valera after a rousing welcome to Dublin.

Ten years ago — The Soviet Union informed the United States it would discuss a proposed exchange of radio and television programs only as part of negotiations to improve all cultural relations.

Five years ago — President Kennedy reaffirmed the U.S. pledge to defend Formosa and the Nationalist-held islands off Communist China.

One year ago—U.S. Navy jets attacked a big underground fuel dump in North Vietnam, sending a fireball and black smoke 3,000 feet into the air.

Witnesses Saw Jet Tail Afire Prior To Crash

BLOSSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Witnesses say they saw fire in the tail section of a Mohawk Airlines jetliner just before it crashed into a mountain Friday, killing all 34 persons aboard.

This was reported in interviews conducted Sunday by federal investigators seeking the cause of the crash of the British-made BAC111 in this remote north-central Pennsylvania community after takeoff from Elmira, N.Y. It was en route from Syracuse, N.Y., to Washington, D.C.

Edward Slattery, information officer for the National Transportation Safety Board, said the interviews indicated the plane seemed to be flying lower than normal and that pieces of debris fell off it just before the crash.

He said weather did not appear to be a factor in the crash and that no evidence of sabotage has so far been uncovered. The jetliner's voice and flight recorder have been sent to Washington for examination, he said.

Bullet-Riddled Body Is Found

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—A bullet-riddled body found floating in the Auglaize River was identified today as that of a former night club entertainer and itinerant from Texas, the Allen County sheriff's office reported.

Deputies said the man was Harold Dean Huntington, 35, formerly of Cisco, Texas but more recently of the Waldo Hotel in Lima. Huntington's body was found Sunday morning near the Allen-Auglaize County line. He had been shot several times, the sheriff's office said.

Better Than 1626

The Seminole Indians, who couldn't beat the U. S. government on the battlefield, have finally beaten it in court.

The U. S. Court of Claims has upheld their contention that they once owned 90 per cent of Florida and has ordered that they now be paid for it at the going rate of 1823, the year their ancestors signed it away.

According to the Seminoles' attorney, that rate was $1.25 an acre and, since 32 million acres are involved, it adds out to a price of $40 million. But it's too early for the Seminoles to start spending their riches, for there may be further litigation before the Indian

Claims Commission even gets a chance to set an official figure.

Then the government will deduct what it has given the Seminoles over these 144 years, and Congress will be asked to appropriate the money.

But it looks as if today's Seminoles are still bound to outdo their forebears impressively, for the latter settled for $152,500, or about half a cent for each of the acres now accredited to them.

Yet the latter may have thought they did quite well alongside a famous transaction of 197 years earlier. The Manhattans made their island deal for about a sixth of a cent an acre.

Murmur, Holler and Grunt

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Practically everyone admits that conversation in America is in a bad way.

It consists largely, as a matter of fact, of three basic sounds: the holler, the murmur, and the grunt.

People holler when they're angry, murmur when they wish to remain noncommittal, and grunt when they are no longer listening at all but wish to give evidence that they are still alive and in the room.

Why has conversation gone into such a decline in a country where it was formerly a powerful and ornamental verbal art form?

Perhaps, to get the conversational ball rolling again, we need to put a moratorium on gripes, complaints, accusations, and gloomy forecasts and replace them with happy talk.

Tell a fellow some good news today, and he's likely to be so surprised and relieved—and grateful—that he'll prattle on cheerfully with you the rest of the day.

Here, for examples, are a few

conversational icebreakers that are guaranteed to make the other person feel better, and thus put him in the relaxed mood conducive to good talk:

"Esmeralda, dear, I thought sex had gone out of my life forever, and then I looked across the room and saw you standing there in your new miniskirt, lovely as a green gazelle."

"I've only got a couple of small pairs, Jim. I guess your three aces take the pot."

"Don't leave now, boys. The house wants to buy you all a round."

"I'm from the Internal Revenue Service, sir. It's about that letter we sent telling you to report to our office next Monday with all your expense account receipts and vouchers from 1958 through 1964. I'm afraid it was a bureaucratic bungle. My chief has asked to take you to lunch—on the government, of course—and explain how the mixup happened."

"Reginald, that Gen. de Gaulle has been acting like such a Mr. Smarty Pants lately that I think we should call off our vacation trip to Paris. What do you say if we stay home this summer instead, and you can go golfing as much as you want?"

"The accident was all my fault, Mac. I know I didn't signal for a left turn. I'm a claims adjuster and carry plenty of insurance. What do you think it'll take to iron out that dent in your fender—$500, $600, $700?"

"Since I arranged these blind dates, Paul, I'll take the homely one, and you take the pretty one. She seems stuck on you already, anyway."

"I guess we'll have to take in the pants, sir. Your waist has gone down from 44 to 37 inches since I sold you your last suit."

"Don't spread this around the office, Jake, but you've done such a good job lately, we've decided to give you a special midyear bonus as well as the usual Christmas bonus. Do you think an extra $2,000 would help you celebrate the Fourth of July?"

"That's all that's needed to revive conversation in America—a few things really worth talking about."

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — This has not been the best first half in the history of economic forecasting. In fact, a midyear assessment shows the economic world projected in some forecasts last year to be an unreal one.

It has been, by some measures, the half year of the half right forecast.

The big error, it seems, was on the side of optimism, a natural hazard of crystal gazing, in which popularity is often measured by the ability to portray a utopian fantasy.

Some independent forecasters, perhaps pessimists by nature, made more accurate estimates.

The big difficulty was in calling the turn. After six years of uninterrupted boom, the economy entered a new phase. Not all forecasters foresaw it. And some chose not to see it.

This new phase of the economy is neither sharply higher nor markedly lower. Its direction is unclear, a contrast to the steady and easily understood rise that preceded it.

Nevertheless, we are now ready for another go-around, and the forecasters won't disappoint us. They are now putting a new date on the old material and forecasting an upturn to begin in the third quarter or perhaps the last quarter of the year.

Others, however, are inclined to wipe off 1967 early and think about 1968 instead. Pierre Rinfret, an economist and business analyst, commented recently:

"One of the things that is most noticeable in the economic forecasting business is that this year ends earlier and earlier and the next year begins sooner and sooner."

"Planning cycles in the formal sense and in the informal sense are now beginning around July. They used to begin around September. Most people now begin to think about next year at about this time."

The forecasts that result from this thinking, ironically, may remain in the mind of the reader long after events have disproved them. This is because forecasts come in grand, sweeping, confident statements. The facts that follow often are dull.

In reading these forecasts, the source generally is very revealing, for in many instances the forecast is developed not so much to foresee the future as to provide a goal to be aimed for.

Thus, one of the most notable misses was by government forecasters who predicted a strong resumption of the economic expansion before the end of the first half of 1967. Because of the source, it is wise to question whether the forecast was based on pure economics or on political goals.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Travelers to far distant places, within the boundaries of the United States or in foreign lands, are often fearful of the possibility of becoming sick when away from home. It is understandable that any illness in a foreign land may provoke far greater anxiety than it would if a patient were near his own family and own doctor.

So great is the fear of illness that many people actually avoid travel because this represents such a threat to their sense of security. Even seasoned travelers are so concerned about their health that some are virtually "a traveling drugstore" prepared for any emergency.

To leave for a happy holiday, with all elaborate instructions as to how to take medicines and antibiotics for colds, fevers and intestinal complaints, is not a particularly comfortable feeling. Underlying this is the treat of illness which can sometimes destroy the fun of a pleasant vacation.

This fear has no validity in this age of communication. Patients can return to their homes from almost every distant land in a matter of hours. Personal physicians can be contacted by telephone and direct the activities of the doctor who is consulted in a far-away city.

A fine precaution before embarking on any extensive tour is to have a complete and general physical checkup. If your doctor believes that there is any reason why you should not travel, his advice, of course, should be taken.

His understanding of the disadvantages of travel to high altitudes may dissuade some people from undertaking it. Suggestions of this sort are exceedingly valuable, and can spare the traveler needless concern.

A letter by your physician is an excellent way to tell any other physician of any special problems, diets, medications, allergies, and unusual conditions that exist. Patients who are on any sustained doses of medicine should carefully calculate the amount they need for the duration of the trip.

The American Medical Association has created a medalion on which is engraved conspicuously key words like, "rheumatic," "diabetic," "allergic to penicillin" or any other existing condition.

This gives the traveler the advantage of immediate help, especially since it indicates that a medical letter is carried in the wallet should an emergency arise.

Vaccinations against smallpox are an absolute requirement in order to return to the United States. The need for typhoid, cholera, and yellow fever injections depends entirely on the country to which you may be going.

An excellent way to find out the safety of the milk, water, fruit and vegetables is to write to the United States Army Medical Division. They will make specific recommendations for vaccinations in underprivileged areas of the world.

Motion sickness in a plane, ship or automobile can now be readily controlled with any one of a group of medicines. If the motion sickness pills are taken at regular intervals, even the most sensitive people can be made comfortable.

The joy of travel need not be impaired by unnecessary fears and anxieties of illness. The chances are great that you will have no major problems that should upset your security.

Eye drops should never be used from one infection to another. The drops themselves often become contaminated and can cause further infection.

A BUS WAS bumping along a back road in the South recently. In one seat a wispy old man sat holding a bunch of fresh flowers. Across the aisle was a young girl whose eyes came back again and again to the old man's flowers.

The time came for the old man to get off. Impulsively he thrust the flowers into the girl's lap. "I can see you love them," he explained, "and I think my wife would like for you to have them. I'll tell her I gave them to you."

The girl accepted the flowers, then watched the old man get off the bus and walk through the gate of a small cemetery.

Goody Ace tells of the sweet revenge a plumber wreaked on a doctor who had raised heck when called in the middle of the night because of a sudden indigestion attack. The very next night the doctor phoned at 3:00 a.m. to wall, "The bathroom facility is overflowing." The plumber cheerily replied, "Drop in two aspirins and go back to bed." Then he hung up!

Court Defends Caste System

By John Chamberlain

As a fairly intelligent (I hope) layman who has been writing about the Supreme Court since the middle Nineteen Thirties, I think I have as much right as anybody to speak on the logic of the law. But the tangles of judicial interpretation get more and more impenetrable, with majority court decisions contradicting each other to the point where one might one of these days expect to see Chief Justice Warren biting his own big toe under the impression that it is Justice Harlan's little finger.

The Court has been extremely solicitous of late in extending the "equal protection of the laws" doctrine to realms that were obviously left by the Founding Fathers to the discretion of the states. Some two years ago the judges proclaimed that a Connecticut statute prohibiting the use of contraceptives was unconstitutional. The Connecticut law was, of course, an unenforceable invasion of privacy and therefore silly. But can anyone who knows history say that the men who wrote our Bill of Rights had the right of access to contraceptives in mind when they were busy enumerating the privileges and immunities which the Federal government was sworn to guarantee? Did James Madison know about the pill?

Again, a panel of three federal judges, by a two-to-one decision, has recently ruled that Connecticut's law which ties welfare payments to a residence requirement is unconstitutional because it penalizes the free movement of citizens between the states. The Supreme Court hasn't spoken on this, but anyone can recognize the parent hood of the strange doctrine that anyone in the fifty states of the union is instantly entitled merely by changing domicile to what any single state wishes to give away free. (Come and get it, boys.) Extending the federal judges' reasoning, shouldn't factory legislation that makes labor costs higher in certain northern states be outlawed on the ground that it penalizes the free movement which South Carolina textile manufacturers might wish to exercise if they should happen to prefer living in Rhode Island or Massachusetts? Sauce for the welfare recipient's goose ought to be sauce for the employers' gander.

The Supreme Court, however, does not really believe that equal protection of the laws applies equally to everybody. Maybe, as Orwell says, some people are more equal than others. The judges are, apparently without realizing it, committed to preserving a caste system in America for all their spoken concern about the universality of rights. This comes clear when Court treatment of labor cases is considered.

There was the recent five-to-four decision upholding the right of a union to fine members for crossing its picket line during strikes. This extends the power of unions, particularly those which have union-shop contracts, to coerce their members. The decision recognizes that unions can be states within a state, exercising their own private taxing and punitive powers in a land whose citizens like to think they were, as the popular song has it, born free.

There is, according to some of the judges' interpretation of their own decision, a distinction to be made between "full members" of unions and those who merely pay dues because a "union security" agreement compels them to do so against their own wishes. Justice Black doubts that this distinction can mean much in practical life. He asks: "How many employees in a union shop . . . will be willing to ignore" the threat of a fine "in the hope that they will later be able to convince the Labor Board or the state court that they were not full members of the union?"

Even if a worker has the hardihood to insist that he is exempt from union discipline on the ground that he pays dues only because the law says he must, the concept of equal protection of the laws does not apply to him. He is forced to surrender money as the price of getting a job. His tougher brother who refuses to pay dues of any sort is discriminated against by getting no job. The "equal protection" clause of the Constitution may apply to states which might otherwise prohibit the use of contraceptives or require a year's residence for welfare payments. But it doesn't make a non-union man the equal of a union man or even a union-dues-payer-under duress when he is applying for work in a union-shop area.

How come, Justice Warren, how come? When did you last open a dictionary?

Better Than 1626

The Seminole Indians, who couldn't beat the U. S. government on the battlefield, have finally beaten it in court.

The U. S. Court of Claims has upheld their contention that they once owned 90 per cent of Florida and has ordered that they now be paid for it at the going rate of 1823, the year their ancestors signed it away.

According to the Seminoles' attorney, that rate was $1.25 an acre and, since 32 million acres are involved, it adds out to a price of $40 million. But it's too early for the Seminoles to start spending their riches, for there may be further litigation before the Indian

Claims Commission even gets a chance to set an official figure.

Then the government will deduct what it has given the Seminoles over these 144 years, and Congress will be asked to appropriate the money.

But it looks as if today's Seminoles are still bound to outdo their forebears impressively, for the latter settled for $152,500, or about half a cent for each of the acres now accredited to them.

Yet the latter may have thought they did quite well alongside a famous transaction of 197 years earlier. The Mannhatts made their island deal for about a sixth of a cent an acre.

Murmur, Holler and Grunt

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Practically everyone admits that conversation in America is in a bad way.

It consists largely, as a matter of fact, of three basic sounds: the holler, the murmur, and the grunt.

People holler when they're angry, murmur when they wish to remain noncommittal, and grunt when they are no longer listening at all but wish to give evidence that they are still alive and in the room.

Why has conversation gone into such a decline in a country where it was formerly a powerful and ornamental verbal art form?

Perhaps, to get the conversational ball rolling again, we need to put a moratorium on gripes, complaints, accusations, and gloomy forecasts and replace them with happy talk.

Tell a fellow some good news today, and he's likely to be so surprised and relieved—and grateful—that he'll prattle on cheerfully with you the rest of the day.

Here, for examples, are a few

conversational icebreakers that are guaranteed to make the other person feel better, and thus put him in the relaxed mood conducive to good talk:

"Esmeralda, dear, I thought sex had gone out of my life forever, and then I looked across the room and saw you standing there in your new miniskirt, lovely as a green gazelle."

"I've only got a couple of small pairs, Jim. I guess your three aces take the pot."

"Don't leave now, boys. The house wants to buy you all a round."

"I'm from the Internal Revenue Service, sir. It's about that letter we sent telling you to report to our office next Monday with all your expense account receipts and vouchers from 1958 through 1964. I'm afraid it was a bureaucratic bungle. My chief has asked to take you to lunch on the government, of course, and explain how the mixup happened."

"Reginald, that Gen. de Gaulle has been acting like such a Mr. Smarty Pants lately that I think we should call off our vacation trip to Paris. What do you say if we stay home this summer instead, and you can go golfing as much as you want?"

"The accident was all my fault, Mac. I know I didn't signal for a left turn. I'm a claims adjuster and carry plenty of insurance. What do you think it'll take to iron out that dent in your fender—$500, $600, $700?"

"Since I arranged these blind dates, Paul, I'll take the homely one, and you take the pretty one. She seems stuck on you already, anyway."

"I guess we'll have to take in the pants, sir. Your waist has gone down from 44 to 37 inches since I sold you your last suit."

"Don't spread this around the office, Jake, but you've done such a good job lately, we've decided to give you a special midyear bonus as well as the usual Christmas bonus. Do you think an extra $2,000 would help you celebrate the Fourth of July?"

That's all that's needed to revive conversation in America—a few things really worth talking about.

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — This has not been the best first half in the history of economic forecasting. In fact, a midyear assessment shows the economic world projected in some forecasts last year to be an unreal one.

It has been, by some measures, the half year of the half right forecast.

The big error, it seems, was on the side of optimism, a natural hazard of crystal gazing, in which popularity is often measured by the ability to portray a topanian fantasy.

Some independent forecasters, perhaps pessimists by nature, made more accurate estimates.

The big difficulty was in calling the turn. After six years of uninterrupted boom, the economy entered a new phase. Not all forecasters foresaw it. And some chose not to see it.

This new phase of the economy is neither sharply higher nor markedly lower. Its direction is unclear, a contrast to the steady and easily understood rise that preceded it.

Nevertheless, we are now ready for another go-around, and the forecasters won't disappoint us. They are now putting a new date on the old material and forecasting an upturn to begin in the third quarter or perhaps the last quarter of the year.

Others, however, are inclined to wipe off 1967 early and think about 1968 instead. Pierre Rinfret, an economist and business analyst, commented recently:

"One of the things that is most noticeable in the economic forecasting business is that this year ends earlier and earlier and the next year begins sooner and sooner."

"Planning cycles in the formal sense and in the informal sense are now beginning around July. They used to begin around September. Most people now begin to think about next year at about this time."

The forecasts that result from this thinking, ironically, may remain in the mind of the reader long after events have disproved them. This is because forecasts come in grand, sweeping, confident statements. The facts that follow often are dull.

In reading these forecasts, the source generally is very revealing, for in many instances the forecast is developed not so much to foresee the future as to provide a goal to be aimed for.

Thus, one of the most notable misses was by government forecasters who predicted a strong resumption of the economic expansion before the end of the first half of 1967. Because of the source, it is wise to question whether the forecast was based on pure economics or on political goals.

The first historic site to be established by any state was George Washington's headquarters at Newburgh, N. Y. It is the farmhouse from which he directed troops during the final 16 months of the Revolution. It was there too that he rejected the suggestion he become king of the new country and that he established the Order of the Purple Heart.

Ohio Legislature

Tax Boost, Raised ADC Face Action in Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An administration tax boost bill and a plan to slightly increase state aid for about 150,000 needy Ohio children have been unveiled in the Ohio Senate.

They highlighted the beginning Monday night of the legislature's 25th work week. Both houses acted on several routine bills as members prepared for heavy committee schedules the rest of the week.

Approval by the Senate Finance Committee of Higher Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) payments preceded a favorable recommendation by the committee of the administration's $4.9 billion budget bill. It will come to a floor vote Wednesday.

The lawmakers face a deadline of Friday midnight for enactment of the House-approved money measure which appropriates funds to run the state for two years starting July 1. It had been stalled in the committee because of dissent in ranks of majority Republicans over the ADC program.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray of Piqua introduced the bill to raise taxes about $252 million in the 1967-69 biennium to put all of that amount in Ohio's public-financed education programs. Increases would involve expanding the 3 per cent sales tax to some services, including parking lots and dry cleaning, enactment of a 1 per cent gross receipts tax on retailers, lowering the starting point for collecting the sales tax from 31 to 11 cents, among other changes.

The new plan for hiking ADC payments falls considerably short of the goal of 100 per cent of recommended standards sought by local welfare groups and others. But the goal can be reached if counties come up with more cash of their own.

Under new provisions of the compromise reached by Republicans, the bill would raise the "floor" for ADC payments from the present 78 per cent to 83 1/2 per cent of standards. Half of $35 million in the state budget for additional ADC benefits would be used to accomplish this. However, counties would have to pay 10 per cent of the cost of raising payments to 83 1/2 per cent, with the state paying 90 per cent—same formula for other state welfare programs.

The remaining $17.5 million would be available to counties over the next two years to carry the increase on to 100 per cent—with one major stipulation. They would be required to pay 66.3 per cent of the increase, with the state paying only 33.7 per cent. The $17.5 million would be enough, on that basis, to raise standards to 100 per cent in all counties.

Some dissenting Democrats and maverick Sen. Robin T. Turner R-14 Marion objected to the plan. They pointed out that counties still must come up with $35 million to reach 100 per cent and that they still would be paying half the additional money.

The budget bill still must go back to the House for consideration of 16 Senate amendments. Little was changed from the House version in terms of dollars, however. One amendment by the upper chamber added $200,000 for purchase of 1968 license plates from out-of-state manufacturers. Repairs from a fire at the Lebanon Correctional Institution where plates normally are made made it necessary to arrange their purchase elsewhere, it was explained.

In other business, the Senate completed passage of House recommitment of patients to mental hospitals and reducing from 32 to 17 the maximum number of councilmen in non-charter cities.

Kiwanians Hold Family Picnic
A family picnic at Gold Cliff Park took the place of the regular Monday meeting of Circleville Kiwanis Club.

Steaks and hamburgers were prepared by Dr. Bill Fraas and Bert Bennett for the 75 members and guests present.

Special guests at the picnic included Mrs. Marilyn Lorenz, Chicago, Ill.; Jackie Reno, Mt. Sterling; Julia and Patty Valentine, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Valentine; Bill Young, Indianapolis, Ind.; and Suzanne Horst.

Fred Geoglein president is attending the International Kiwanis Convention in Texas.

A round-table will be featured next Monday with members meeting at Deffenbaugh Funeral Home.

Six Juvenile Cases Handled By Court

Millard F. Dern, Pickaway County Juvenile Probation officer, reported that six cases had been disposed of by Judge Guy G. Cline.

The report stated that a 17-year old juvenile was apprehended, while in the company of two adults, tampering with an auto belonging to Phillip Davis, Circleville, causing $50.15 damage to the auto.

He was sentenced to 30 days detention with an added $50 fine. However both, fine and the sentence were suspended with the stipulation that the youth pay his share of the damages to the auto.

Clark K. McFarland II, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark McFarland, Route 3, Circleville, was cited into Juvenile Court for the lack of a horn on his auto. He was handed a fine of $10 and costs which was suspended by the court. He was also directed to attend traffic safety school when scheduled.

PAUL Lynn McKnight, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. McKnight, 20, Orient was cited for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile per hour zone. He was handed a fine of $10 and costs. The youth's operator's license was also suspended from June 23 to August 4, 1967.

The court suspended the fine and allowed McKnight driver's rights for work purposes only while under suspension.

Michael W. Pettit, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Pettit of South Charleston, W. Va., was cited for speeding 90 miles per hour in a 60 mile per hour zone. He posted a $20 bond which was later forfeited to the court when he failed to appear for the traffic hearing.

William W. Robinson, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Robinson, Charleston, W. Va., was cited for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile per hour zone. He forfeited a $15 bond upon failure to appear for hearing.

Richard Lovenshimer, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, 119 Mingo St. was cited for speeding 42 miles per hour in a 35 mile per hour zone. He was handed a fine of $10 and costs with the fine suspended by the court.

The court also ordered that Lovenshimer attend traffic school when scheduled. His driver's license was suspended from June 24 to July 24, 1967, with driver's rights for work purposes only.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—You can get dizzy sitting down, just reading the papers to keep up.

There were those few days in the life of Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. And then there was King Hussein, Abba Eban, little Albania, Red China, Fidel Castro, and the long pronouncement from Moscow on 50 years of the revolution.

After almost 10 hours head-to-head, over two days in Hollywood, President Johnson and Kosygin came out all smiles, shaking hands, saying pleasant things. The President got to the premier a helicopter to return to New York.

The two men, side by side on television, had made it clear that while they might not have settled everything, or even anything, it certainly was a good thing, and a nice one, this chance to get together.

Kosygin was hardly back in New York before he went on television again, this time before a news conference, to denounce the United States as an aggressor in Vietnam and Israel as an aggressor in the Middle East.

Since he had said all that about the Middle East before, he felt compelled to say it again because he knew the Arabs were watching and couldn't help wondering whether he made a deal with Johnson to sell them out.

But they didn't say so.

Since he had said before the United States was the aggressor in Vietnam, you got the feeling that maybe he felt compelled to say that again, too, because the Communist world was watching to see if he had made a deal with Johnson.

The Red Chinese, who used to be a Soviet ally, said it away off in Peking, accusing Kosygin of making a "vicious deal" to do Red China in. Red China is not a member of the United Nations.

But her only Communist European ally, little Albania, is and just in case anyone was hard of hearing what Red China said, Albania got up in the U.N. General Assembly, denounced Kosygin as a traitor to the Arabs, accused him of plotting with Johnson for American-Soviet domination of the world, and announced "we will beat you."

Just about this time in Moscow the Communist party put out a document to show how well communism was doing 50 years after the 1917 revolution. This document went further than Kosygin did in New York and called the United States an "imperialist."

Then it said something which must have flabbergasted the Albanians and the Chinese and everybody else, since everybody else knows better. It talked of the need for Communist unity and at the same time denounced the Chinese leadership.

As if this wasn't confusing enough, the document promised Soviet support for "wars of liberation" while urging peaceful coexistence and promising it would put its own domestic growth above world revolution.

And if that still wasn't enough, the document by the Soviet Communists said they were progressive, although the Chinese call them reactionaries.

And while it said the only solution to the world's problems was communism, Kosygin in New York was saying that if the Vietnam war was out of the way the Soviet Union could work out economic ties with the United States.

Instead of flying home after his hectic weekend, Kosygin flew Monday to Cuba, the only Communist country in the Western Hemisphere, where, unlike the waving, applauding crowds of non-Communist Americans around the house called Hollywood in Glassboro, N.J., there were no crowds to meet Kosygin when he got off the plane in Havana.

He flew there to have a head-to-head talk with Fidel Castro, whose government has criticized the Soviets for not bailing out the Arabs when Israel was mopping them up. Castro has personally attacked the Soviet doctrine of peaceful coexistence which the Moscow document proudly claimed as Soviet policy.

Meanwhile, King Hussein of Jordan, a country left in tatters by the short war with Israel, journeyed to the United Nations to ask the General Assembly to condemn the Israelis. He said there might be peace in the Middle East if the Israelis would just give the Arabs back the real estate they took in the war.

Not to be outdone, Israel's Foreign Minister Abba Eban, exercising the right of reply, told the assembly, in effect, that what Hussein said was all baloney, that Jordan attacked Israel first and got what was coming to her.

If you can make sense out of this you're what the world is looking for and badly needs — a magician.

'Audioscope' Attempts To Protest Film Success

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Can movies be pretested, the same as breakfast cereals and motor cars?

It's an intriguing thought, and one that might engage the fancies of the bright new generation of film makers. After all, if the moguls could know in advance that a $7-million spectacle was going to be a turkey, they could save a lot of money by simply not making it.

Of course it wouldn't be that easy. There are too many intangibles in the field of art and entertainment; you couldn't make a final judgment on a movie that has not yet been created. But Philadelphia trade paper Editor Moe Wax believes he can chart the basic elements of a movie's appeal through a sampling of public opinion.

Wax, who operates Film Bulletin, has been conducting tests with something he calls Audioscope. He takes samplings—no report on how many—of opinion from potential ticket buyers to see how they react to a film's components.

One of the subjects of Audioscope was "A Countess from Hong Kong," which was treated badly at the hands of critics and movie goers alike. This reviewer didn't find it all bad, only disappointing in view of the giant talents involved. The survey's findings: "Sophia Loren was the dominant go-factor in fostering prerelease sentiment for this film. She was pre-conceived as a pleasurable and exciting performer component—by female movie-goers especially—in this romantic-comedy type of film, a popular category."

"On the other hand, the Marlon Brando appeal was in evidence only sporadically, for the most part in the more sophisticated metropolitan centers, and to a fair extent among college students. Brando was actually a deterrent, a no-factor, to a substantial number of moviegoers who evinced a lack of enthusiasm for the film either, a because they are not Brando fans, or b. because he held little appeal in a light, romantic role....

"Apparently because Brando did not complement the gay, romantic image fetched up by Miss Loren, predisposition failed to jell into a go-condition for many potential customers. The Loren-Brando chemistry simply failed to take with the mass audience.

"Charles Chaplin revealed sizable impact as a go-factor, particularly among older moviegoers."

The Audioscope for "Countess" also disclosed an apathy for the film on the part of younger people, especially males. The greatest appeal was to "scattered female segments in large eastern urban and suburban areas, together with older people, infrequent moviegoers, and some art-film devotees."

Armed with such intelligence, would Universal have abandoned "A Countess from Hong Kong"?

Undoubtedly not. The chance of getting Chaplin to create another movie was too inviting to pass up. But the company might well have considered casting a male star more complementary to the light, romantic appeal of Loren.

Tax Boost, Raised ADC Face Action in Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An administration tax boost bill and a plan to slightly increase state aid for about 150,000 needy Ohio children have been unveiled in the Ohio Senate.

They highlighted the beginning Monday night of the legislature's 25th work week. Both houses acted on several routine bills as members prepared for heavy committee schedules the rest of the week.

Approval by the Senate Finance Committee of higher Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) payments preceded a favorable recommendation by the committee of the administration's $4.9 billion budget bill. It will come to a floor vote Wednesday.

The lawmakers face a deadline of Friday midnight for enactment of the House-approved money measure which appropriates funds to run the state for two years starting July 1. It had been stalled in the committee because of dissent in ranks of majority Republicans

over the ADC program.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray of Piqua introduced the bill to raise taxes about $252 million in the 1967-68 biennium to put all of that amount in Ohio's public-financed education programs. Increases would involve expanding the 3 per cent sales tax to some services, including parking lots and dry cleaning, enactment of a 1 per cent gross receipts tax on retailers, lowering the starting point for collecting the sales tax from $1 to 11 cents, among other changes.

The new plan for hiking ADC payments falls considerably short of the goal of 100 per cent of recommended standards sought by local welfare groups and others. But the goal can be reached if counties come up with more cash of their own.

Under new provisions of the compromise reached by Republicans, the bill would raise the "floor" for ADC payments from the present 78 per cent to 83½ per cent of standards. Half of $35 million in the state budget for additional ADC benefits would be used to accomplish this. However, counties would have to pay 10 per cent of the cost of raising payments to 83½ per cent, with the state paying 90 per cent—same formula for other state welfare programs.

The remaining $17.5 million would be available to counties over the next two years to carry the increase on to 100 per cent—with one major stipulation. They would be required to pay 66.3 per cent of the increase, with the state paying only 33.7 per cent. The $17.5 million would be enough, on that basis, to raise standards to 100 per cent in all counties.

Some dissenting Democrats and maverick Sen. Robin T. Turner R-14 Marion objected to the plan. They pointed out that counties still must come up with $35 million to reach 100 per cent and that they still would be paying half the additional money.

The budget bill still must go back to the House for consideration of 16 Senate amendments. Little was changed from the House version in terms of dollars, however. One amendment by the upper chamber added $200,000 for purchase of 1968 license plates from out-of-state manufacturers. Repairs from a fire at the Lebanon Correctional Institution where plates normally are made made it necessary to arrange their purchase elsewhere, it was explained.

In other business, the Senate completed passage of House recommitment of patients to mental hospitals and reducing from 32 to 17 the maximum number of councilmen in non-charter cities.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill by Sen. William W. Taft R-26 Cleveland permitting defendants in lawsuits to bring into their cases third parties who may be jointly liable. The court would have to approve, Taft said, adding that defendants in federal courts already are entitled to bring in third parties.

In the House, 89-1 approval was given to measures creating Portage County Municipal Court and adding a municipal judge in Springfield.

The court also ordered that Lovenshimer attend traffic school when scheduled. His driver's license was suspended from June 24 to July 24, 1967, with driver's rights for work purposes only.

Marian J. Schiefer Weds Lawrence Gibson Vance

MRS. LAWRENCE GIBSON VANCE

Miss Marian Joanne Schiefer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Schiefer, Route 2, Nevada, Ohio, became the bride of Lawrence Gibson Vance, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Chaney Vance, Orient, on June 18 at 2:30 p. m.

Before an altar decorated with two seven-branched candelabra and two pedestal baskets containing ivory fleur-de-lis and gladioli, the Rev. Kenneth J. Wilkinson performed the double ring ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church in Bucyrus.

Organist was Miss Lyn Ruhland and vocalist was Miss Cindy Kelly, college roommate of the bride. Mrs. Karen Scott sang the Benediction Hymn.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in an ivory silk peau de soie gown, with a scoop neckline, Kabucci sleeves with pearl beaded empire bodice and A-line skirt. The court train was fastened at the shoulder with beaded cross bows. Her headpiece was a handmade cathedral length mantilla edged in fine French chantilly lace. A short bouffant veil was also attached to a Spanish crown which elevated the mantilla. The beads on the crown belong to the bride's maternal grandmother.

The bride carried an ivory heirloom fan. Her bouquet of ivory carnations, stephanotis and ivy was fastened to the center of the fan.

Mrs. Karen Scott, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a blue linen sheath dress with scoop neckline and lace Kabucci sleeves, a court train was attached at the shoulders with bows. She carried a white lace fan which she had carried at her own wedding. The center of the fan was decorated with mauve carnations and blue stephanotis. Her headpiece was a blue

Spanish mantilla edged in chantilly lace.

Bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Vance and Miss Linda Vance, sisters of the groom, and Miss Judith Gearhart. Their dresses and headpieces were identical to those of the matron of honor. They carried blue fans with mauve carnations and blue fleur-de-lis.

The flower girls were Miss Jennifer Schiefer and Miss Linn Schiefer, nieces of the bride. Ring bearer was Master Jay D. Scott, nephew of the bride.

Lt. William Gerald Vance served his brother as best man. Ushers were Norman Schiefer and Allan Schiefer, brothers of the bride, Kenneth Miller, Thomas Graham and Donovan Scott, brother-in-law of the bride.

Pages were Thomas Schiefer, Geoffrey Schiefer and John Schiefer, nephews of the bride.

Mrs. Schiefer chose for her daughter's wedding a pink chiffon jacket dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses with blue fleur-de-lis.

Mrs. Vance was attired in a turquoise A-line dress with matching coat of silk shantung and bone colored accessories. Her corsage was identical to that of Mrs. Schiefer.

A reception in the church fellowship hall followed the ceremony. The wedding cake, topped with a fan and mauve and blue flowers was placed on a table covered with blue tulle. The serving table was centered with a compote containing an arrangement of ivory carnations and blue fleur-de-lis. Two silver candelabra were placed at either side of the compote.

Hostesses for the reception were Misses Jane S. Schimpf, Nancy L. Hackney, Linda Lou Donnenwirth of Bucyrus; Nan Shawber of Lima; Kathleen Grogan of Columbus; Sandra

Cardinals Take Giants, 3-1

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Cosman taught the St. Louis Cardinals a little Yiddish by passing around his glove, but they got a bigger kick from the lesson he taught the San Francisco Giants by unwinding his right arm.

The rookie pitcher, a Roman Catholic, has the Yiddish word "mazel," which means luck, written on his glove.

But Cosman relied more on a new no-windup delivery Monday night to get across a four-hitter to the Giants for 8 1/3 innings as the Cardinals rang up a 3-1 victory.

"Billy Muffett (Cardinal pitching coach) changed my delivery," Cosman said. "I never used it before, but it felt good before the game, so I tried it."

The Chicago Cubs also were doing things the new way again Monday afternoon, beating Philadelphia 4-2, extending their winning streak to seven games, longest since 1954.

The New York Mets pulled a surprise too, coming from behind to upend Pittsburgh 3-2, while Claude Osteen rolled along for Los Angeles with a five-hitter that halted Cincinnati 3-0. Atlanta and Houston were not scheduled.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox slipped by Baltimore 5-4, the New York Yankees defeated Kansas City 5-2, Minnesota topped Boston 2-1, and California edged Washington 4-3. Detroit and Cleveland were idle.

Cosman, who also keeps in his locker a mezuzah, a parchment that contains passages from the Old Testament, thanks some Jewish friends in his home town of Nashville, Tenn., for his good luck symbols.

"They said Jim O'Toole (White Sox pitcher) had inscribed the word 'think' on his glove, so why shouldn't I use 'mazel'?" Cosman said.

For his pitching success in his first appearance since being called up from Tulsa last week, he credits Muffett.

"He had a dream last night that I should try the no windup delivery," Cosman said, "and when anybody dreams about my pitching, I've got to try his suggestion."

"I thought he'd throw more strikes this way," Muffett said. "He's been taking his head off the target because he raises his arm too high."

Cosman, who hurled a two-hit, 2-0 shutout at the Cubs on the last day of the 1966 season, made four relief appearances this year before he was sent down, allowed only one unearned run before he left with one on and one out in the ninth. Nelson Briles got the last two outs.

Cosman also drove in the decisive second run in the second inning with his first major league hit as he led the league-leading Cardinals to a 3 1/2-game bulge over Cincinnati.

Successive homers by Billy Williams and Ron Santo and a run-scoring single by Al Spangler in the first inning kept the surprising Cubs on target, pulling them within a half game of the Reds. Rookie Rich Nye, 6-3, and relievers Cal Koonce and Chuck Hartenstein protected the team.

The last-place Mets were struggling along, as usual, behind 2-0 before Ken Boyer tied the game with his first homer with two out in the eighth inning. Pinch hitter Ed Charles completed the about face with a run-scoring single in the ninth off Elroy Face.

Osteen had little trouble with the injury-plagued Reds as he raised his record to 10-7. Only one man got past second base against him.

Ron Hunt backed him up with a homer and Willie Davis tripled in a run and scored on Ron Fairly's sacrifice fly as the Dodgers beat Mel Queen, 8-3.

Play Marked By Slugfests

Extra Inning Keys Victories

Six teams pushed across 86 runs in Tri-County League action Monday night as Pickaway registered a major loop win and Laureville and Saltcreek copped minor loop victories.

In the majors, Pickaway exploded for 12 runs in the top of the first inning and coasted to a 14-9 win over Saltcreek.

Scott Pontious was the winning pitcher and also smacked a triple and double. Aldenderfer was tagged with the mound loss.

In one of the minor loop tilts, Laureville erupted for 10 runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to wipe out an 11-1 deficit and then won over Stoutsville in the extra seventh frame 15-14.

Ted Davis smashed a homer and triple for Stoutsville and also suffered the mound defeat after relieving Stroup. Johnston and Glick, the winner, shared mound chores for Laureville.

In the other contest, Saltcreek also had to go an extra frame in registering an 18-16 decision over Pickaway. The score was tied 15-15 at the end of the sixth.

Junior Penwell homered for Saltcreek while Luckhart and Aldenderfer were on the mound for the winners. King suffered the pitching defeat.

Circle Auto Tops FOP

Circle Auto Parts picked up its second win in four starts in a close 15-12 tilt with FOP Monday in the Mosquito Loop. With one out in the bottom of the last frame and FOP leading by one, Jim Barker tripped with the bases full, driving in three and producing the win.

Mike Cassill took the mound for the first time this year and pitched the win for Circle Auto. He allowed only seven hits, striking out seven and walking 15.

Brad Skinner and B. Ferguson combined to hurl for FOP. They walked four, fanned nine and allowed 17 hits.

BARKER had another triple to go along with his game-winning smash. Mike Lawter and Randy Swower doubled for the winners. Warren Yamrick tripped for the only extra baser recorded by FOP.

Cleveland and Detroit Open Three-Game Series

DETROIT (AP)—The Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers open a three-game series here tonight and the Indians can overtake the Tigers if they sweep the series as they did last time the two teams met. The clubs have split even in four games this season, the Tigers winning the first two and the Indians taking the last two when Detroit was at the top of the American League standings.

The Tigers have been slipping in the last three weeks and now are 4 1/2 games back of league-leading Chicago. They have lost 12 of their last 17 games, and southpaw Mickey Lolich, who is scheduled to face the Indians' Luis Tiant Thursday night, has been beaten in eight consecutive starts.

Cleveland has won 11 of its last 19 games. Sam McDowell drew the starting assignment for the Indians tonight and will be opposed by Earl Wilson.

Both teams were idle Monday. Pitcher Sonny Siebert re-joined the Indians after spending Monday in Cleveland where he was examined by doctors who gave him a clean bill of health.

The 30-year-old right-hander has been suffering dizzy spells and the doctors agreed that the spells probably are an aftermath of a virus attack Siebert had a few weeks ago and will not last.

Al Kaline Leads Poll For AL All-Star Team

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Kaline of Detroit led the ticket with 242 votes today when Baseball Commissioner William Eckert announced the results of the poll of American League players, managers and coaches for the All-Star team to face the National League July 11 at Anaheim.

Kaline and Bill Freehan of the Tigers and the Robinson boys of Baltimore—outfielder Frank and third baseman Brooks—were the only repeaters from last year's starters. Pitchers and other squad members will be picked later by Manager Hank Bauer of Baltimore.

Rod Carew, second baseman of the Minnesota Twins, became the only rookie to make the club. Rico Petrocelli, Boston shortstop, also was picked for the first time. Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota and Carl Yastrzemski of Boston have been there before, but were not starters last season. There were only two left-handed batters—Yastrzemski and Carew.

Kaline received all but five of the votes he could possibly have polled, for players are not allowed to pick their own teammates. The American League had 273 ballots and Detroit contributed 26 of them. Thus Kaline got 242 of a possible 247.

Frank Robinson, the triple crown champ and Most Valuable Player in 1966, drew 239 votes, missing on only six ballots of a possible 245. Baltimore had 28 votes.

The number of votes varied, depending on the number of coaches and also on the number of players who had been in the league the required minimum of 30 days.

There were no close contests. The closest was Petrocelli with 122 to runner-up Jim Fregosi of California with 58, a margin of 64 votes.

It was interesting that Baltimore, Detroit, Boston and Minnesota each got two starters but the league leading Chicago White Sox didn't get one.

Freehan won in a breeze with 222 votes although a total of nine catchers drew votes.

Killebrew was the first baseman as expected by a wide margin over Don Mincher of the California Angels. Mickey Mantle, an All-Star many times in center field, drew only 10 votes as a first baseman.

Despite Brooks Robinson's off year he had 140 votes more than the next best third baseman, Max Alvis of Cleveland.

Under the rules as revised last year, the players vote for outfielders as a unit, not naming any position. Kaline, Frank Robinson and Yastrzemski were way out in front. Yastrzemski was third with 219 and Tony Oliva of Minnesota was fourth with 28.

The National League team was to be announced Thursday and the rest of the squads later.

Hawks Win Sixth in Majors In 27-3 Rout of Legion

The Herald Hawks exploded for 15 runs in the bottom of the sixth and turned the game into a rout as they won, 27-3, over American Legion Monday in the Little League Majors.

Bigman Drugs tromped the Elks, 8-3, and Purina edged Coca-Cola, 13-8, in other loop play.

The Hawks blasted 23 hits in their contest. Dave Truex tagged a homer and Tom Shea tripled for the winners. Doubles were registered by John Walker, Bill Halstenberg, Tom Shea and Dana Carley. Jerry Boltenhouse smacked a pair of two sackers.

Scott Clifton tripled and Bob Dollison and Francis Hughey doubled for the only extra basers for the Legion.

BILL Halstenberg went the distance on the mound for the winners, firing eight strike outs and allowing only one base on balls. He scattered nine hits in five frames.

Terry Rooney took on chores for American Legion, fanning seven and allowing 23 hits.

Bigman picked up its fifth win against one loss in their decision over Elks. Of 11 hits, five went for extra bases.

Rock Davis homered, Dale Imler tripled and doubled, Greg Hoskins and K. Hoop doubled.

Hoskins pitched the distance for the winners, walking five, fanning 15 and allowing four hits. Dave Webb and Kris Kline split mound chores for Elks, walking six, striking out four and scattering 11 hits.

Marion Waits Resigns TV Mentor Post

Marion Waits, head football coach at Teays Valley High School for the past five years, is resigning that position, he told The Herald Tuesday morning.

Waits will assume administrative duties at Monroeville schools in Huron County. He came to Teays Valley in 1962 and accepted head football coaching duties. Last season his Vikings finished second in the Metropolitan League.

No successor has been named.

Furniss Fans 17 In Butch Win

John Furniss struck out 17 batters and allowed two hits as L. M. Butch dropped General Electric, 3-1, in the Babe Ruth League Monday.

Furniss had a shut-out going until the fifth inning when GE marked a run. Butch had already piled up three scores.

Chuck Zimmerman picked up the mound loss for the Electricians, allowing eight hits.

Cincinnati Is Shut Out By Los Angeles Dodgers

CINCINNATI (AP)—Claude Osteen has pitched shutouts before but his boss thinks there's something special about it when he pitches one in Crosley Field.

The lefthander's five-hit pitching sparked the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 3-0 victory over Cincinnati Monday night and Manager Walt Alston was quite happy about it.

"That was one of Osteen's better games," Alston said. "A shutout in this park is something. Osteen had good control. As to whether a lefthanded pitcher has any advantage in this park, that's something I'm not sure about."

Osteen allowed only one Red Sox player past second base but was in trouble several times before his teammates broke through in the third inning and helped him to his second shut out of the season.

As for the Reds, their ninth defeat in the last 12 games left them still in second place—but just barely, one percentage point ahead of the surging Chicago Cubs.

Osteen went all the way for his 10th victory against seven defeats. It was also his sixth consecutive victory over the Reds, who last managed to beat him June 28, 1966.

Despite chest pains and a blister on his right forearm, Reds starter Mel Queen (8-3) gave up only four hits in the seven innings he worked—but his teammates failed to come through.

The Dodgers scored twice in the third inning when Wes Parker drew a walk to lead off and scored on Willie Davis' triple an out later. Ron Fairly's sacrifice fly brought Davis across the plate.

Ron Hunt homered against the left field screen in the seventh to make it 3-0.

Reds Manager Dave Bristol was thrown out of the game by Umpire Ed Sudol for arguing on an eighth-inning play in which Deron Johnson forced Tony Perez at second base.

Palmer, Zarley Lead Field of 52 In Columbus Golf

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Palmer and Kermit Zarley made the Columbus Country Club golf course look like a snap Monday.

Palmer joined Zarley, playing out of Seattle, Wash., in firing six-under-par 66s to lead a field of 52 professionals in the second annual Columbus Invitational Pro-Am Championship.

The one-day $15,000 tournament at the tough 6,924-yard course, site of the 1964 PGA tournament, was sponsored by the Columbus Dispatch Charities and Children's Hospital. Palmer and Zarley won $650 each.

Jack Nicklaus, the hometown favorite on the pro tour shot a 71.

Cardinals Take Giants, 3-1

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Cosman taught the St. Louis Cardinals a little Yiddish by passing around his glove, but they got a bigger kick from the lesson he taught the San Francisco Giants by unwinding his right arm.

The rookie pitcher, a Roman Catholic, has the Yiddish word "mazel," which means luck, written on his glove.

But Cosman relied more on a new no-windup delivery Monday night to get across a four-hitter to the Giants for 8 1/3 innings as the Cardinals rang up a 3-1 victory.

"Billy Muffett (Cardinal pitching coach) changed my delivery," Cosman said. "I never used it before, but it felt good before the game, so I tried it."

The Chicago Cubs also were doing things the way again Monday afternoon, beating Philadelphia 4-2, extending their winning streak to seven games, longest since 1954.

The New York Mets pulled a surprise too, coming from behind to upend Pittsburgh 3-2, while Claude Osteen rolled along for Los Angeles with a five-hitter that halted Cincinnati 3-0. Atlanta and Houston were not scheduled.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox slipped by Baltimore 5-4, the New York Yankees defeated Kansas City 5-2, Minnesota topped Boston 2-1, and California edged Washington 4-3. Detroit and Cleveland were idle.

Cosman, who also keeps in his locker a mezuzah, a parchment that contains passages from the Old Testament, thanks some Jewish friends in his home town of Nashville, Tenn., for his good luck symbols.

"They said Jim O'Toole (White Sox pitcher) had inscribed the word 'think' on his glove, so why shouldn't I use 'mazel'?" Cosman said.

For his pitching success in his first appearance since being called up from Tulsa last week, he credits Muffett.

"He had a dream last night that I should try the no windup delivery," Cosman said, "and when anybody dreams about my pitching, I've got to try his suggestion."

"I thought he'd throw more strikes this way," Muffett said. "He's been taking his head off the target because he raises his arm too high."

Cosman, who hurled a two-hit, 2-0 shutout at the Cubs on the last day of the 1966 season, made four relief appearances this year before he was sent down, allowed only one unearned run before he left with one on and one out in the ninth. Nelson Briles got the last two outs.

Cosman also drove in the decisive second run in the second inning with his first major league hit as he led the league-leading Cardinals to a 3 1/2-game bulge over Cincinnati.

Successive homers by Billy Williams and Ron Santo and a run-scoring single by Al Spangler in the first inning kept the surprising Cubs on target, pulling them within a half game of the Reds. Rookie Rich Nye, 6-3, and relievers Cal Koonce and Chuck Hartenstein protected the team.

The last-place Mets were struggling along, as usual, behind 2-0 before Ken Boyer tied the game with his first homer with two out in the eighth inning. Pinch hitter Ed Charles completed the about face with a run-scoring single in the ninth off Elroy Face.

Osteen had little trouble with the injury-plagued Reds as he raised his record to 10-7. Only one man got past second base against him.

Ron Hunt backed him up with a homer and Willie Davis tripled in a run and scored on Ron Fairly's sacrifice fly as the Dodgers beat Mel Queen, 8-3.

Play Marked By Slugfests

Extra Inning Keys Victories

Six teams pushed across 86 runs in Tri-County League action Monday night as Pickaway registered a major loop win and Laurelville and Salt Creek capped minor loop victories.

In the majors, Pickaway exploded for 12 runs in the top of the first inning and coasted to a 14-9 win over Salt Creek.

Scott Pontious was the winning pitcher and also smacked a triple and double. Aldenderfer was tagged with the mound loss.

In one of the minor loop tilts, Laurelville erupted for 10 runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to wipe out an 11-1 deficit and then won over Stoutsville in the extra seventh frame 15-14.

Ted Davis smashed a homer and triple for Stoutsville and also suffered the mound defeat after relieving Stroup. Johnston and Glick, the winner, shared mound chores for Laurelville.

In the other contest, Salt Creek also had to go an extra frame in registering an 18-16 decision over Pickaway. The score was tied 15-15 at the end of the sixth.

Junior Penwell homered for Salt Creek while Luckhart and Aldenderfer were on the mound for the winners. King suffered the pitching defeat.

Scott Clifton tripled and Bob Dollison and Francis Hughey doubled for the only extra basers for the Legion.

BILL Halstenberg went the distance on the mound for the winners, firing eight strike outs and allowing only one base on balls. He scattered nine hits in five frames.

Terry Rooney took on chores for American Legion, fanning seven and allowing 23 hits.

Bingman picked up its fifth win against one loss in their decision over Elks. Of 11 hits, five went for extra bases.

Rock Davis homered, Dale Imbler tripled and doubled, Greg Hoskins and K. Hoop doubled.

Hoskins pitched the distance for the winners, walking five, fanning 15 and allowing four hits. Dave Webb and Kris Kline split mound chores for Elks, walking six, striking out four and scattering 11 hits.

Marion Waits Resigns TV Mentor Post

Marion Waits, head football coach at Teays Valley High School for the past five years, is resigning that position, he told The Herald Tuesday morning.

Waits will assume administrative duties at Monroeville schools in Huron County. He came to Teays Valley in 1962 and accepted head football coaching duties. Last season his Vikings finished second in the Metropolitan League.

No successor has been named.

Furniss Fans 17 In Butch Win

John Furniss struck out 17 batters and allowed two hits as L. M. Butch dropped General Electric, 3-1, in the Babe Ruth League Monday.

Furniss had a shut-out going until the fifth inning when GE marked a run. Butch had already piled up three scores.

Chuck Zimmerman picked up the mound loss for the Electricians, allowing eight hits.

Met Trout Camp Set at Zanesville

All boys between the ages of 16 and 22 are eligible to attend a trout camp sponsored by the New York Mets Saturday and Monday at Zanesville.

Tryout sessions will be at the Zanesville High School field on Blue Ave. Each session will begin at 10 a. m.

Those who have been drafted by professional baseball teams cannot try out. American Legion players need written permission from their manager or post commander to participate.

Players must furnish their own gloves, spikes and uniforms. Other equipment will be provided by the Mets.

Ollie Vanek, scouting supervisor of the Mets, will conduct the tryouts.

Game Maid, a roan filly bred in Alabama, got his name from his sire Greek Game and his dam Ocean Maid, a daughter of Sailor.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Joe Kennedy who passed away June 27, 1967.
What we would give to see your smile
To sit and talk with you awhile.
The blow was sudden
The shock severe
To part with you we loved so dear.
We often think of you
The things you used to say and do
Wonder why you had to die
Without a chance to say goodbye.
Sadly missed by Pauline and family.

Durocher's Cubs Think Of Pennant

CHICAGO (AP) — Leo Durocher, who has played it mum since the Chicago Cubs' disastrous last place finish in 1966, is getting his voice back.

When Leo took over as manager following the Cubs' eighth place finish in 1965, he bellowed in his fognhorn voice: All I know is the Cubs are not an eighth place team."

Once it became evident the Cubs were going to finish 10th, everyone said Leo had been right. The Cubs weren't an eighth place club, they were 10th and last.

Compounding this with a Durocherism of years past that nice guys finish last," the hecklers had a field day although it was extremely unfair.

Durocher, convinced the Cubs were going nowhere without youth, traded off established pitchers like Larry Jackson, Bob Buhl and Lindy McDaniel for the likes of Ferguson Jenkins, Bill Hands, Randy Hundley and Adolfo Phillips.

These youngsters, among others, have been every bit as good this year as they were bad last year.

Their development, coupled with the improving second base combination of Glenn Beckert and Don Kessinger along with the steady help of veterans Ron Santo, Billy Williams and Ernie Banks, has turned the Cubs into winners.

The Cubs conked Philadelphia 4-2 Monday for their seventh straight victory. Not since 1954 has a Cub team won seven straight. And even though it is early — almost too early — being the word pennant" is the word bandied about on the North Side.

Durocher popped out of his shell Monday when asked about the differences between when he took over the Cubs and when he became manager of the New York Giants in 1948.

"It was mid-season when I accepted the Giant job from Horace Stoneham. All I did was observe until the season ended. Then Horace asked me for a report on the team. I wrote him a note which said back up the truck.

"This set Horace off because he knew I meant we had to make changes. He told me about the club setting a home run record. But I told him about the times we'd play Boston and Eddie Stanky would walk, go from first to third on a single and score on a fly ball.

"We'd go back into the clubhouse with all those home run hitters, but Boston would win the game 3-2. It took time, but I convinced Horace and we started to make changes."

"It's been a lot easier here. When I took over the Cubs, I made a few suggestions and Mr. Wrigley P.K. Wrigley told me I was the boss. John Holland (vice president) bent over backwards to help.

"They had finished in the second division 19 years and I helped make it 20. But the Cubs have shed the defeatist attitude. They believe in themselves now. I always expect hustle but I've never seen anything like this. It'll be interesting to see where we wind up."

Plane Crash Injures 4

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—An amphibian airplane piloted by a Xenia man clipped some tree tops on take-off from Cowan Lake Sunday and crashed, injuring the four persons aboard.

The passengers, Glenn Kreiss, 41, of Lyons, N. Y., and his sons Roger, 11, and John, 10, were treated at a Wilmington hospital and released. Pilot Ken Smith, 41, was transferred to Greene Memorial Hospital in Xenia after treatment in Wilmington. He was in satisfactory condition.

Southpaw Jim Kaat of the Minnesota Twins won eight straight games last summer on his way to a 25-victory season.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Are TV series on the way out? Might we, some day, have to manage without "Gilligan's Island," "Peyton Place" and "The Beverly Hillbillies?"

Dan Blocker, 275-pound Hoss Cartwright of the "Bonanza" clan, told Daily Variety: "We are seeing the last breath of TV series as we have known them. The trend is to specials, two-hour films and anthology.

"The bulk of dramatic fare will be in the two-hour vehicles. It will take three-four years to happen, but it is evidenced already.

"The audience is sophisticated today and won't accept series any more. It wants a more sophisticated presentation."

The new fall schedule does indeed suggest at least a slight swing to shows of greater length.

The three networks will have a combined total of 31 half-hour programs — six fewer than last fall.

One-hour shows will increase from 40 to 42.

But whether half-hour or longer, network program chiefs tell me, series are here to stay.

Herbert Schlosser of NBC predicts: "The future will bring a tremendous increase in the number of specials that will interrupt regular series. And there will be longer shows that offer a chance to say more.

"But there still will be series. People like the Bonanza boys, Lucy, 'I Spy' and Gleason-Carney."

Perry Lafferty, CBS: "I think there will always be series, like the Perry Mason books and the Andy Hardy movies.

"On the three networks there are 75 hours of prime time a week. Anyone should know you can't come up with enough specials and movies to fill a week."

The fall figures, he said, don't yet indicate a trend.

"Our schedule was made up on the basis of what we thought was good, not because it was shorter or longer than something before it."

Emmy-winning writer Sam Denoff says: "People identify with actors in a series." Writer-producer Sam Rolfe, creator of "Have Gun, Will Travel" and "The Man from U.N.C.L.E.," reasons: "People feel relaxed with a continuing character."

NBC's Schlosser added: "The time might come in 10 or 15 years when we'd have no regular series. But I can't see it in the foreseeable future."

Trainer Arnold N. Winick gained his eighth Gulfstream training title with 21 victories during the 1967 meeting.

Durocher's Cubs Think Of Pennant

CHICAGO (AP) — Leo Durocher, who has played it mum since the Chicago Cubs' disastrous last place finish in 1966, is getting his voice back.

When Leo took over as manager following the Cubs' eighth place finish in 1965, he bellowed in his foghorn voice: All I know is the Cubs are not an eighth place team."

Once it became evident the Cubs were going to finish 10th, everyone said Leo had been right. The Cubs weren't an eighth place club, they were 10th and last.

Compounding this with a Durocherism of years past that "the guys finish last," the hecklers had a field day although it was extremely unfair.

Durocher, convinced the Cubs were going nowhere without youth, traded off established pitchers like Larry Jackson, Bob Buhl and Lindy McDaniel for the likes of Ferguson Jenkins, Bill Hands, Randy Hundley and Adolfo Phillips.

These youngsters, among others, have been every bit as good this year as they were last year.

Their development, coupled with the improving second base combination of Glenn Beckert and Don Kessinger along with the steady help of veterans Ron Santo, Billy Williams and Ernie Banks, has turned the Cubs into winners.

The Cubs conked Philadelphia 4-2 Monday for their seventh straight victory. Not since 1954 has a Cub team won seven straight. And even though it is early — almost too early — the word "pennant" is being bandied about on the North Side.

Durocher popped out of his shell Monday when asked about the differences between when he took over the Cubs and when he became manager of the New York Giants in 1948.

"It was mid-season when I accepted the Giant job from Horace Stoneham. All I did was observe until the season ended. Then Horace asked me for a report on the team. I wrote him a note which said back up the truck."

"This set Horace off because he knew I meant we had to make changes. He told me about the club setting a home run record. But I told him about the times we'd play Boston and Eddie Stanky would walk, go from first to third on a single and and score on a fly ball."

"We'd go back into the clubhouse with all those home run hitters, but Boston would win the game 3-2. It took time, but I convinced Horace and we started to make changes."

"It's been a lot easier here. When I took over the Cubs, I made a few suggestions and Mr. Wrigley P.K. Wrigley told me I was the boss. John Holm (vice president) bent over backwards to help."

"They had finished in the second division 19 years and I helped make it 20. But the Cubs have shed the defeatist attitude. They believe in themselves now. I always expect hustle but I've never seen anything like this. It'll be interesting to see where we wind up."

Worry of
FALSE TEETH
Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

EAGLE SCOUTS — Ben Brian (left) and Mike Vaughn (right) were elevated to the rank of Eagle Scout at ceremonies held Monday evening at the Methodist Church. Conferring the rank upon the boys were Ben Brian and Dave Schneider, officials of the District Boy Scout Council. The Eagle Scout rank is the highest that may be bestowed upon a scout. Keener is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Harr, Route 3 and Vaughn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Vaughn, 335 Wood Lane.

Fear and Dread Dominate Town of Sierra Vista

SIERRA VISTA, Ariz. (AP) — The little children of this community have vanished. It is as if some Pied Piper lured them away with his magic pipe.

They're in their homes or their backyards or in the family car. Parents keep constant watch. Two blonde girls have vanished—one from her home, another from a play area—to become murder victims.

The people are frightened. A local pawn shop owner says he could get rich if he had more .25-caliber automatic pistols. "They're selling like hotcakes," said the dealer. "The women here say they aren't going to let some nut kill their children without at least putting up a fight."

It was nearly two months ago that pretty blue-eyed, blonde-haired Cindy Clelland disappeared from her home in Sierra Vista, which has grown up around Ft. Huachuca. The sprawling desert Army post is headquarters for the Strategic Communications Command.

The girl, daughter of an Army sergeant, was found stabbed to death in a brutal fashion three days later. She was nude when searchers found her body on a remote firing range.

Then last Thursday, Jenelle Haines, whose father is a lieutenant colonel, disappeared while playing near a pond at the Ft. Huachuca Officers Club. She was found eight hours later, her skull crushed by what is thought to have been a large rock.

Jenelle was 6 years old, Cindy was 7.

Because the second killing was on federal property, the Federal Bureau of Investigation was called in. Agents working out of Ft. Huachuca refused to comment, saying, "We'll call you if anything happens."

A number of persons interviewed Monday said they felt it was unfair to be left in the dark. "We don't know what to watch out for," said one woman as she shopped with her three children tagging along behind. "Surely someone saw something, it seems they could tell us more."

Civilians here say they think the killer—or killers—is in the Army. Military personnel say townspeople are always quick to blame the Army.

'United Methodist Church' Is Almost Reality Now

DAYTON, Ohio (A) — The proposed merger of The Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church into a religious body of 11 million members is virtually guaranteed.

The new religious body would be called the United Methodist Church.

Officials of both churches gathered at EUB headquarters here Monday night and confirmed that required approval by membership of the religious bodies was a "statistical success."

Delegates of the Ohio Sandusky EUB Conference meeting at St. Marys, Ohio, cast the deciding votes earlier in the day.

The union, which has been under study for nine years, required a two-thirds affirmative vote of local delegates representing all churches of the two protestant faiths.

The Ohio Sandusky Conference voted 166-129 in favor of the merger after EUB delegates representing all churches of the two protestant faiths.

The Ohio Sandusky Conference voted 166-129 in favor of the merger after EUB delegates elsewhere earlier had given a 2,714-1,590 affirmative vote. EUB delegates representing a church membership of 750,000 persons now have approved the union by a 70 per cent margin.

Methodist have so far given 87.3 per cent approval. The Methodist Church is 10,250,000 members strong.

The Rev. Paul A. Washburn of Dayton, executive secretary of the EUB Commission on Church Union, met here Monday, anticipating the balloting at St. Marys.

Bishops of both churches plan to audit all voting before making an official announcement.

Lawmen Continue Crackdown on Speed Offenders

Local law enforcement agencies are continuing their efforts to curb traffic violators with special emphasis on those exceeding posted speed limits.

Both city police and state highway patrolmen have been utilizing their radar speed detecting equipment throughout the area. Following is a list of those cited during the week-end.

Loren C. Rossiter, 34, of Kingston was cited into Circleville Municipal Court for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants.

Acting Judge Allan Berger handed Rossiter a $150 fine, three day sentence to the County Jail and suspended his operator's license for six months. The judge, however, allowed him driver's rights for work purposes during the suspension period.

M. L. Woodrow, 67, of 1233 Norfolk Ave., was cited for failure to yield right-of-way. He was fined $15 and costs, with $10 of the fine suspended by the court.

Hubert C. Lemaster, 40, Columbus, was handed a fine of $50 and costs for driving with no operator's license.

George Quinn, 25, Washington C. H., was cited for reckless operation of a motor vehicle. He was handed a fine of $25 and costs.

Quinn was also cited for a violation of the automotive registration procedure and failure to transfer registration. On this violation he was fined $25 and costs, with $10 of the fine suspended by the court.

Stanley Jackson, 26, of 422 John St., was cited for unnecessary noise with a motor vehicle. He was fined $20 and costs.

John H. Goltz, 28, Columbus, was cited for two moving violations. For the excessive speed citation he was handed a penalty of $15 and costs. On the expired operator's license charge he was fined $25 and costs, with the fine suspended by the court.

Motorists cited into Municipal Court for excessive speed violations were given the following dispositions, fines do not include $9 court costs. They are:

Bond Sales Total Set at $37,165

Pickaway County Savings Bond and Freedom Share sales for the month of May totaled $37,165, according to Kenneth F. Fosnaugh, county volunteer Savings Bonds Chairman.

The county attained 35.9 per cent of its annual sales goal the end of May.

The total sales in Ohio amounted to $28.4 million. This represents an increase of $1.7 million over E and H sales alone in May 1966.

Ohio attained 38.7 per cent of its annual sales goal May 31 with sales up $9.2 million over the first five months of 1966.

EAGLE SCOUTS — Bill Keener (left) and Mike Vaughn (right) were elevated to the rank of Eagle Scout at ceremonies held Monday evening at the Methodist Church. Conferring the rank upon the boys were Ben Brian and Dave Schneider, officials of the District Boy Scout Council. The Eagle Scout rank is the highest that may be bestowed upon a scout. Keener is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Harv, Route 3 and Vaughn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Vaughn, 335 Wood Lane.

Fear and Dread Dominate Town of Sierra Vista

SIERRA VISTA, Ariz. (AP) — The little children of this community have vanished. It is as if some Pied Piper lured them away with his magic pipe.

They're in their homes or their backyards or in the family car. Parents keep constant watch. Two blonde girls have vanished—one from her home, another from a play area—to become murder victims.

The people are frightened. A local pawn shop owner says he could get rich if he had more .25-caliber automatic pistols. "They're selling like hotcakes," said the dealer. "The women here say they aren't going to let some nut kill their children without at least putting up a fight."

It was nearly two months ago that pretty blonde-haired, blonde-haired Cindy Clelland disappeared from her home in Sierra Vista, which has grown up around Ft. Huachuca. The sprawling desert Army post is headquarters for the Strategic Communications Command.

The girl, daughter of an Army sergeant, was found stabbed to death in a brutal fashion three days later. She was nude when searchers found her body on a remote firing range.

Then last Thursday, Jenelle Haines, whose father is a lieutenant colonel, disappeared while playing near a pond at the Ft. Huachuca Officers Club. She was found eight hours later, her skull crushed by what is thought to have been a large rock.

Jenelle was 6 years old, Cindy was 7.

Because the second killing was on federal property, the Federal Bureau of Investigation was called in. Agents working out of Ft. Huachuca refused to comment, saying, "We'll call you if anything happens."

A number of persons interviewed Monday said they felt it was unfair to be left in the dark. "We don't know what to watch out for," said one woman as she shopped with her three children tagging along behind. "Surely someone saw something, it seems they could tell us more."

Civilians here say they think the killer—or killers—is in the Army. Military personnel say townspeople are always quick to blame the Army.

'United Methodist Church' Is Almost Reality Now

DAYTON, Ohio (A) — The proposed merger of The Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church into a religious body of 11 million members is virtually guaranteed.

The new religious body would be called the United Methodist Church.

Officials of both churches gathered at EUB headquarters here Monday night and confirmed that required approval by membership of the religious bodies was a "statistical success."

Delegates of the Ohio Sandusky EUB Conference meeting at St. Marys, Ohio, cast the deciding votes earlier in the day.

The union, which has been under study for nine years, required a two-thirds affirmative vote of local delegates representing all churches of the two protestant faiths.

The Ohio Sandusky Conference voted 166-120 in favor of the merger after EUB delegates representing all churches of the two protestant faiths.
